Tug Battles Ice to Prevent Ontario Flood

—CP Photo

One of the busiest ships afloat these days is the Amherstburg tug Atomic, seen churning thousands of tons of river ice from the Thames below Chatham, Ont. The tremendous effort of the sturdy little craft and her crew may save thousands of acres of valuable farmland now threatened by flooding in the event of a sudden thaw. Picture was taken by a member of the tug's crew.

Railing Urged By Jury

Guard rails or necessary walls at danger points around Cameron Lake were recommended last night at Port Alberni by a coroner's jury inquiring into the deaths of Robert Lynn and Maggie Walker, of Courtenay, and five-year-old Sandra Walker.

The three died Sunday at 4 p.m. when their car skidded twice and slid backward into Cameron Lake near Angel Rock.

The jury, informed that all were drowned, ruled the deaths accidental, with blame attached to no one.

Sandra, testimony indicated, had been adopted by the Walkers and was the daughter of Mrs. Max Morgan, of Faust, Alta., a sister of Mrs. Walker who came from Grouard, Alta.

Norbert Smith of Nanaimo, knew Mrs. Walker's family but had known Walker only slightly. Harold Goodwin, of Courtenay, the Walker's landlord, identified the bodies.

Coroner Dr. C. Pitts, presided, and Thomas Thompson was foreman of the jury.

Earlier, at Courtenay, a coroner's jury inquiring into the death of three persons whose car crashed into the Courtenay River, found death due to drowning with no blame attached "to any living person."

Killed in the accident were Matthew Bruce Shackleton of Comox, George Nelson of Cumberland, and Lorraine McCrory of Cumberland.

Courtenay night watchman Lou Novits said he saw the car come down Sixth Street "at a high rate of speed," hit a pile of pipe on the Government Wharf and somersault backwards into the water with the roof of the car taking the impact. There was no indicaton who was driving.

Jury foreman was R. N. Carey, with Coroner George Pidcock presiding.

Howe Says Canada To Carry Full Load Without U.S. Gifts

Explains Defence Position In Talk to U.S. Audience

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 (CP).—Canada's Trade Minister, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, said tonight that Canada will shoulder her full burden in the current emergency without the expectation of any free gifts from the United States.

Canada has never asked the United States for gifts, nor will she do so now, Mr. Howe said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Chicago Commercial Club.

"We expect to carry a fair share of the sacrifices and costs of collective defence. On a per capita basis, we shall probably carry more than many of our Allies."

He said it seemed advisable that there be a frank and full discussion of what Canada was doing in view of what some of his American friends and American publications were saying.

CLEAR EXPLANATION

"Some of you may think that we Canadians are touchy, too ready to resent the suggestion that we are doing less than our duty in this time of peril. That may be so, but I doubt it. What I am concerned about is that my American friends should have a clear explanation of the Canadian position."

He touched briefly on the thorny question of compulsory training in Canada and intimated that when the need arises, Canada will not be found wanting, either in the quantity of her fighting men or their quality.

Canada's defences, he said, will be framed on the basis of possible attack by air and sea. There was a 100-ship naval force now in the making.

On the ground, Canada, working with the United States, was planning a huge radar warning system, to bolster air defences. One-quarter of the system would be located in Canada, built and paid for by Canadians.

But all these efforts led to problems, and some of them were:

1. The St. Lawrence seaway must be built or the steel industry now on the Great Lakes area would have to migrate to the Atlantic Coast.

2. Commodity controls in Canada would have to be extended "to all war commodities."

3. Canada was placing eight times as many war orders in the United States as the United States was placing in Canada. More contracts and sub-contracts could "with advantage" be placed in Canada.

4. Inflation was a big headache in Canada.

5. Canada could not hope for a measure of stability in prices without stability in the United States.

Fight Fire Without Saanich

Saanich firemen refused to budge early this morning in spite of two R.C.M.P. appeals for help to fight a fire at the home of J. R. Noble, Veyaness Road, Central Saanich.

The fire, which started shortly before midnight, was extinguished by between 15 and 20 volunteer Sidney firemen and neighbors.

Saanich firemen said they referred the R.C.M.P. calls to their chief, Joseph Law, but "heard nothing more about it."

Police first called to ask for assistance to the Sidney firefighters, and a few minutes later called back and asked for a tank truck, as they feared the Sidney equipment could not cope with the blaze, which did considerable damage to the Noble's roof before being put out. A neighbor who helped fight the blaze said it started in the attic.

Majority of Saanich and Central Saanich councillors could not be reached for comment, but Central Saanich Reeve, Sydney Pickles later praised the Sidney fire fighters for their promptness and efficency in quelling "what might have been a serious blaze."

Central Saanich recently refused the neighboring municipality's offer of fire protection at the rate of $1,000 per month.

Flu Death

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Feb. 27 (CP). — Alberta's first death due to the current influenza epidemic was recorded today. Victim was Mrs. Jean N. Burt, a 32-year-old mother of eight children.

Canadians Harass Chinese Position

ON THE WEST CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Feb. 27 (CP).—Canadian troops in Korea maintained a lively exchange of fire with deeply-entrenched Chinese Communist forces opposite them today.

The fire-fights were a continuation of the two-day battle by the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry to scale high ground above Sogu, stubbornly defended by the Reds.

(A communique issued at General Douglas MacArthur's Tokio headquarters Wednesday—Korean time—said Commonwealth forces—including Canadians—overcame heavy resistance to capture vital objectives east of Chipyong. The communique said patrols, slogging over thawing ground, encountered determined enemy positions one to three miles beyond the United Nations' positions.

(It was not clear whether the vital objectives mentioned in the communique included Hill 419, above Sogu, which the Patricias stormed last week-end but later relinquished when they ran up against the main Chinese defences.)

CHINESE SLAUGHTERED

While the Patricias engaged the Reds' fire today, artillery and mortar fire and air strikes continued to harass the Chinese positions. Compilation of reports indicated this fire and the Patricias' two-day battle to scale the high ground had inflicted a slaughter on the Chinese defenders.

Some reports indicated as many as 700 Chinese troops had been slain, but skeptical officers of the Canadian battalion said they would wait until the positions were taken and see for themselves.

Other activity of the Patricias was limited to patroling their sector.

PROBE HILLS

Reports from Tokio datelined Wednesday, said United States 7th and 2nd Division infantrymen had probed deeper into Central Korea's soggy mountains after taking eight miles of a vital east-west highway.

The main objective was to find and kill Reds withdrawing after their east flank defences were crushed Tuesday. A secondary objective was to win control of the road which bisects the peninsula from Kangnung on the east to Seoul on the west.

Inspector Confirms Officers Suspended

R. C.M.P. Superintendent C. W. Harvison yesterday in Victoria confirmed reports from Kelowna that five police officers had been temporarily suspended.

Superintendent Harvison declined to comment further, other than to state that an investigation was being held and that a report would be made to the Attorney-General.

Power Rates Said Transit "Subsidy"

For Full Details of Rate Increase See Page 23.

Alderman Frank Mulliner believes the public should know that the B.C. Electric transit system is being subsidized by electrical power rates.

After W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the company, submitted an electrical power rate increase proposal to City Council yesterday, Alderman Mulliner asked:

"Is it not time the man on the street knew he was paying a form of subsidy toward bus fares?"

He thought the public should know that in order to keep bus fares down, electricity rates had to be raised.

Mr. Mainwaring replied that the company had never tried to hide the fact. He stressed, however, that increased company expenditures were not all brought about by transit costs. The electrical system was "demanding of a large part," he said.

The vice-president added that advertisements outlining the company's position would soon be published.

Council, after a short discussion, referred the proposal to its finance committee with power to act.

B.C.E.R. will make immediate application to the Public Utilities Commission for permission to revise the rates.

Average cost to a Victoria householder will be 2.7 cents a day.

Fire Hits Dock At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Feb. 27 (CP).—A stubborn, two-alarm fire tonight destroyed the upper storey of the British Columbia Packers Ltd., dock before firemen managed to control the flames in a land and sea attack.

The blaze also destroyed a smokehouse, where the fire was believed to have started.

The company could not immediately give a damage estimate. However, the adjoining offices and storage loft of B.C. Trawls Ltd., lost equipment valued at more than $11,000.

The British freighter Thistledale was forced to lift anchor, and small fishing craft withdrew to open water.

Auriol Rejects Pleven Offer To Resign Post

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP).—Premier Rene Pleven's three-party Government offered to resign tonight because it won by only a narrow margin a vote of confidence on the French election law issue, but President Vincent Auriol refused to let it step out of office.

The National Assembly voted 243 to 216 to consider the Pleven Cabinet's plan for revision of the French electoral system, a question on which Pleven had decided his Government would stand or fall.

An outright majority of the Assembly is 311, but the Government's 243 was enough legally to permit it to remain in office.

Auriol urged Pleven to continue his Government's efforts to revise the election laws and the Assembly was reconvened to begin consideration of the Government plan.

Move to Shift Holiday Dates Pushed Ahead

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP).—A private member's bill that would vary the dates for celebrating Victoria Day and Dominion Day tonight advanced one more stage in the Commons.

Under the bill, sponsored by J. L. MacDougall (L., Vancouver-Burrard), Victoria Day and Dominion Day would always be celebrated on Mondays rather than on whatever dates May 24 and July 1 happen to fall.

The bill was reported out of committee and now awaits third reading in the Commons. If it is adopted by the Commons it will go to the Senate for consideration.

In a brief debate prior to expiry of the hour devoted to the study of private member's bills, Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver-Quadra), and George Cruickshank (L., Fraser Valley), expressed opposition to the measure.

Premier Introduces Bill To End Gasoline Curbs

The long-heralded bill to remove controls from sale of gasoline was introduced yesterday in the Legislature by Premier Byron Johnson.

The bill completely removes from the Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board all power to regulate prices in the petroleum industries.

The board's control over grades and standards in the petroleum industry is also wiped out.

The board is given power, however, to control and supervise construction of filling stations and other premises where petroleum products are kept for sale.

Controls were placed on the sale of oil and gasoline 11 years ago by the British Columbia Government under former Premier T. D. Pattullo.

Retails associations have bitterly opposed abolition of the five-cent margin per gallon of gasoline which they were guaranteed under the former controls.

Disappeared Seven Months Ago

Police Open Search for Prospector Feared 21st Victim of "Lost Mine"

VANCOUVER, Feb. 27 (CP).—The legend of the fabulous "Lost Creek Mine" was recalled today when police search opened for Alfred Gaspard, 60-year-old prospector.

Twenty persons have died in the last half century in search of the mine in the upper reaches of Pitt River, a mountainous district 45 miles north of Vancouver.

Alfred Gaspard may be the 21st victim. He has not been heard from in seven months. He was flown into Pitt Lake headwaters in July and two weeks later a second plane dropped him 400 pounds of food—enough to last a bush-wise prospector about five months.

Prospectors saw him the next two or three days in the rugged country. Then he disappeared.

In November, R.C.M.P. officers made an aerial search, but bad weather halted the hunt. Today, an R.C.M.P. constable and a guide started a ground search.

Friends said Gaspard had been fascinated by the tales of the lost mine.

Legend has it that an Indian discovered the mine in 1890, coming out with a fortune of gold to New Westminster. The Indian, named Slumach, made several trips to the mine, each time returning with a pack of gold. He died on the gallows in 1892 at New Westminster, after confessing to the murder of eight women. Each trip he took an Indian woman to the mine. None returned and he kept the location of "Lost Creek" secret.

One American, who came back with a fearsome tale of hardship and disaster and a packload of $10,000 in gold, died a short time later.

He said the creek lost itself in a mountain tunnel, but he gave no other details.

Twenty other men have hunted for the lost mine. None returned.

U.K. Cruiser Sent North Of Parallel

TOKIO, Feb. 28 (Wednesday) (INS).—British naval headquarters in Tokio said today that a British cruiser was ordered to proceed north of the 38th Parallel to join in the coastal bombardment of Communist positions following a pressing request by a United States naval commander.

The request was made by Rear-Admiral Allan Smith, deputy commander of the United Nations Task Force 95.

URGENT SIGNAL

In an urgent signal sent to the British navy headquarters in Tokio, Smith asked that a British cruiser be sent immediately to join in the shore bombardment 80 miles north of the parallel to relieve the U.S. cruiser Manchester.

The request came exactly a week after a decision to keep all British Commonwealth ships south of the parallel. The British Foreign Office has ordered a complete investigation into the participation of the aircraft carrier H.M.S. Theseus, the cruiser H.M.S. Belfast and the Australian destroyer Warramunga in an action along the North Korean coast.

'Flu in City Said Doubled

There are twice the normal number of 'flu cases in Victoria for this time of year, Dr. J. L. Gayton, city medical health officer, said yesterday.

Cases of respiratory and gastro-intestinal disorders, he said, are moderately severe and some have become complicated.

Dr. Gayton declined to state the exact number of cases recorded by his department.

Various sales, work and recreation rooms are provided in building, to be built on Arena Way on city-donated property with funds supplied by Community Chest and Canadian National Institute for the Blind. It is hoped the building will be ready for occupancy some time this Autumn.

Calls for Government Survey

Saanich M.L.A. Deplores State of Drains, Ditches

A Government survey of "the deplorable conditions regarding open drains and ditches" in Saanich was called for in the Legislature yesterday by Arthur Ash (Cln., Saanich).

"I say to the Minister of Health and Welfare that he should survey conditions in Saanich and he will find some sordid places where disease could easily break out," declared Mr. Ash.

"With a large population outside the Greater Victoria area it seems to me that precautions should be taken to protect the health of our people," he stated.

"The district and municipalities of Saanich have been plagued for many years in the matter of drainage. The Council of the municipality has and is doing something about these conditions. But their funds are limited and I feel the Government could very well encourage and assist the municipality in what is becoming a serious situation as times goes on," he continued.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

BOURNEMOUTH—Don't let rumors of scarcity put you off taking a holiday in Britain this festival year. There's plenty of food for travelers, and if you have dollars to spend you can live like a king.

Under the present rate of exchange, a modest sheaf of dollars

The visitor who peers in shop windows and translates price tags to his own currency will be astonished at the seeming cheapness of food and clothes. Why, then, do Englishmen continue to grumble that everything is so expensive? It isn't entirely because they like grumbling.

The cost of living in England seems to be exactly half what it is in Canada. It has, indeed, been kept down somewhat by an elaborate network of subsidies and controls.

However, the average wage in England is also only about half the average wage in Canada, so the working man here is in roughly the same position as his Canadian counterpart. Provided you forget about rationing, which is a big thing to forget about. If the average Canadian wage is $45 a week, the average British wage is about six pounds ten a week, or just under $20.

The man who benefits is the Canadian or American butterfly who flits over the Atlantic on the wings of the dollar. A lucky Canadian who could live over here and draw his meagre $45 every week on Canadian income tax and be comfortably off, with a weekly income of £15.

(A visitor can live in Britain free of British income tax for six months, unless he returns every year.)

Rationing would be no problem to him, because he could eat often in restaurants and hotels, where meals are cheap and good. The only way he could lose would be by smoking heavily. Heavily-taxed cigarettes cost about three shillings sixpence, or 52½ cents, for a package of 20. Pipe tobacco is correspondingly dear.

But almost all other kinds of staple goods are so cheap in terms of dollars that even an old age pensioner could manage to live in Britain if an impossibly kind government agreed to forward his cheque.

(Don't hold me responsible if the exchange rate shifts or the cost of living takes a violent rise before you read this.)

* * *

At the moment, a man can buy a made-to-measure suit of acceptable quality for six pounds, ten shillings, or less than $20. A suit of fairly good quality costs about £16, or $48; and top-quality suits may cost £25 ($75) or more.

A very cheap pair of men's shoes costs 18 shillings or $2.70. More expensive shoes run to £4, or $12, and more.

Visitors can buy goods in England free of purchase tax if they have them sent direct to their port of departure or their home address. They can also get purchasing coupons from banks, and buy direct.

You can buy a fairly substantial three-course meal in a restaurant for less than 2s 6d (38 cents); get a haircut for 2s (30 cents); hire a small U-drive car for £1 ($3) a day.

You can buy an English car with dollars, use it in Britain and have it sent home—a privilege which will make you the envy of the people here, who must wait from five to ten years for a new car, depending on the brand.

A new car with one mile or several thousand miles on the meter immediately doubles its price on re-sale.

I saw the twin brother of my own car for sale in a Bournemouth second-hand garage. It had run 1,000 miles. In Canada I paid roughly $1,300 for my car. Here it costs about $1,050 new. Second-hand, it was selling for £795, or $2,385.

However, you must abandon any notion of traveling to Britain and setting up in business as a second-hand car spiv. All the loop-holes are plugged. I haven't details at hand, but the controls are numerous and watertight. As far as I know you can't sell your car bought with dollars on this side. You can't bring a car into the country without posting a big bond.

And the Briton who is lucky enough to get a new car must undertake not to re-sell it for two years.

* * *

Visitors can go on motor tours very cheaply, if they have rubber-neck tendencies. A bus company advertises tours which range from a three-day jaunt around North Devon at 6½ guineas ($19) to a 16-day expedition around the Scottish Highlands at 40 guineas ($126).

According to the advertisement, "fares include first-class hotel accommodation, with dinner, room and breakfast, early morning tea with newspaper (when available)."

Entertainment is varied and cheap. Tickets to plays in Bournemouth range from 15 cents to $1.25; films, from 28 cents to 68 cents; pantomime, from 53 cents to $1.20; symphony concerts from nothing (at rehearsals) to 38 cents and 90 cents. Recitals by distinguished artists are in the same price range, except that there are no free rehearsal seats, of course.

Liberals Told to Seek Restoration of Balance

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—A professor of political science from Queen's University suggested to the Liberal Party today that thought should be given to means of ensuring the responsibility of Government to Parliament and the people.

Dr. J. A. Corry told the National Liberal Federation's advisory council, the party's policy-making group, that steps should be taken to maintain the influence of Parliament over Government policy and administration.

He said Canada's new and more complex status as a predominantly urban industrial nation inevitably produced more of government controls, services and expenditures.

He suggested that if the country again was to have order-in-council government, consideration should be given to the establishment of one or more parliamentary committees to examine the effects of government orders "on individual rights and freedoms."

Consideration also should be given to whether parliament's position and prestige can be maintained.

"It is difficult," Dr. Corry said, "to see any other way of restoring the balance that used to exist between Government and Parliament when governmental policies were few and simple."

As the federation's three-day meeting moved through its second day, 300 delegates heard reviews of government policy from Health Minister Paul Martin, Resources Minister R. H. Winters and Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg.

Mr. Martin said the Federal Government is prepared to launch a contributory old-age pension scheme, paying $400,000,000 a year to Canadians of 70 and over, "immediately it obtains provincial consent."

Mr. Winters reviewed the government's housing program. Mr. Gregg discussed manpower problems.

Seek Means to Fight Nearly-Odorless Gas

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—Canada is studying new types of respirators for gas masks and other equipment to combat a largely odorless and invisible poison gas the Russians have in large quantities.

Officials, commenting on reports that Danish scientists have started a research program to find a remedy for what they called the "sneaking death" gas, said Canada has been studying its potentialities and uses for some time.

It is known here as the "nerve gas" because it can swiftly destroy the nerves and bring death. It would be quite possible for victims to be stricken before they were aware anything had happened.

NOT WORST DEVELOPED

Defence authorities here say it is not the worst gas yet developed but it is the worst that can be manufactured and put in weapons for effective use.

They say its qualities have been overstressed but that it is a "very powerful" gas. It is described as "much better" than mustard gas.

It was developed by the Germans in the last war and both the Russians and the Allies seized quantities of it in Germany at the end of the war.

WARLOCK

At least small quantities of it are available in Canada and have been used in the drive to find an answer to it.

Since both sides have it, the same situation could conceivably apply as that which prevented any general use of gas in the last war. The Germans had the nerve gas and others, but they didn't use them because the Nazis knew the Allies were even better prepared for chemical warfare than they themselves.

Largely in secrecy, Canada has been doing important work on chemical warfare at Suffield, Alta. In fact, Canada did important work in that field in the last war which was never made public.

Drew Urges Pressure For Controls

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, tonight urged Canadians to write to ther Members of Parliament and demand the imposition of controls.

In a speech prepared for delivery on the Nation's Business program over a C.B.C. national network, Mr. Drew said he was convinced emergency controls had become "absolutely necessary" to hold down the cost of living and to combat inflation.

"Inflation is your business and mine" he said. "We have presented every argument we can in the House of Commons, but the Government refuses to act. You still have it within your power to demonstrate that democracy is in fact government of the people by the people themselves.

"After all," he continued, "in a democracy the Members of Parliament are bound to pay attention to a clearly-expressed demand from the people of their own constituency."

Flashes Caused By Photo Bombs

MUROC, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—Night flashes high in the sky over this area were disclosed today to have been photo-flash bombs of as much as 1,000,000,000 candlepower. Spokesmen at Edwards Air Force base here said the illuminating bombs could be seen as far as 300 miles away under ideal conditions. They are dropped in multiple series at altitudes up to 30,000 feet.

LONDON (CP)—Grannie Paris, believed London's oldest resident, celebrated her 106th birthday by dancing the "Lambeth Walk."

Bill to Alter Indian Act Similar to Last Year's

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP)—Citizenship Minister W. E. Harris said today a new bill making broad changes in the Indian Act is basically the same as one introduced in the Commons last Spring and later withdrawn.

He made the statement in the Commons during the debate on a resolution preliminary to the Indian bill.

The Minister said this year's bill contained little new from the 1950 version, but there were "improvements" in some sections.

The 1950 measure—withdrawn by the Minister for further study after Indian bands had complained they hadn't enough time to deal with it—rewrote the old Indian Act.

INDIAN "REGISTER"

The bill would have set up an Indian "register," in which only those of predominantly Indian blood would be recorded. It would have set up new procedures for management of reserves, simplified provisions for control of Indian funds and adopted new and uniform systems of elected chiefs and councillors. Tax exemptions on Indians' real and personal property on reserves were to be modified.

Spectators included some Indian leaders from all parts of Canada.

They heard a wrangle over whether a special committee of the House should be set up to deal with the changes, as asked by William Bryce (C.C.F., Selkirk).

Mr. Harris said he would like to see the bill approved in principle, but would not object to a committee after that.

C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative members argued that a committee could be set up without that formality, urging the House should not proceed hastily.

Tax Collecting Easy —Just Call and Ask

BRUNSWICK, Me., Feb. 27 (AP)—A good way to collect back taxes is to ring doorbells and ask for them, says town manager John J. Desmond. He told Brunswick Rotarians yesterday that he collected $2,100 in such a campaign, making 250 visits to taxpayers' homes.

Found in Swamp, Small Boy Safe

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Two-year-old Jimmy Howard was found yesterday in ankle-deep "swamp water after wandering alone for 20 hours in the snake-and-alligator-infested Florida Everglades. The tiny tot was apparently unharmed and well. He was found by one of a 125-man searching party.

"BOUND TO RISE!"
Once upon a time, there was a writer
His name was Horatio Alger, Jr.
And, when Father was a boy and
Grandfather was not so old, either, books like "Bound to Rise" and "Strive and Succeed" were very popular indeed. Almost all Alger's stories told of a poor boy who saved a rich man from serious injury or worse.
And, always, the poor boy became rich himself . . .
Today, we are not at all sure this is the best way to get rich. Rich men are few. And most of them seem quite competent at keeping from under the feet of runaway horses or automobiles.
However, all of us confidently feel we are "Bound to Rise." Our desire is to "Strive and Succeed." And we feel one of the best ways to do this is by opening a Savings Account with The Dominion Bank. It is a good thing to read books about how to succeed. It is a better thing to plan your social and business life so that success is certain.
A Savings Account with The Dominion Bank will help you to help your family, your business, and yourself. A Savings Account can ensure your success.
Whenever you visit any Branch of The Dominion Bank, you'll find friendly, courteous and efficient service. Drop in today!

Red Cross Drive Needs Canvassers

AROUND TOWN

A "whirlwind" two-week Red Cross drive for funds in Victoria will require 1,300 volunteer canvassers to raise $67,000, Red Cross Campaign headquarters announced yesterday.

To start March 1, the annual drive locally will be in conjunction with the national campaign to raise $5,000,000, of which the British Columbia quota is $550,000.

Local headquarters will be set up at Red Cross House, 1046 Fort Street, according to campaign co-chairman, Ernest Heybroek. He has appealed for additional canvassers in order that all parts of the city may be covered.

Last year, Victoria over-subscribed its quota of $65,000 in a three-week drive.

An analysis of the 1951 national Red Cross budget shows that estimates for this year amount to $6,765,545, of which $1,764,882 has already been obtained or is expected through other revenue and credits.

This leaves $5,000,663 to be raised throughout Canada by voluntary donations.

Walter S. Thompson, former public relations official of Trans-Canada Air Lines and the C.N.R., will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau at 12:05 p.m. today in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Thompson is expected to speak on a recent five-month tour through Canada and the United States.

Solarium Drive Reaches Final Day

Ailing children from as far north at Whitehorse come to Queen Alexandra Solarium, Mill Bay. Solarium children like Linda, 2, of Duncan, have been "adopted" by more than 100 organizations. Each group keeps a youngster supplied with personal articles. Linda, who may take her first step through Solarium care, likes "fuzzy, cuddly toys." Current Junior League "Shower of Dimes" campaign, ending today, is to aid youthful Solarium patients.

Shower of Dimes Drive Now Near $11,000 Mark

The Solarium Junior League's "Shower of Dimes" fund campaign in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children has reached the $10,700 mark.

League members said yesterday the fund was still growing with last-minute contributions continuing to reach headquarters.

The month-long drive is scheduled to end today. Contributors were urged not to miss the deadline and to address donations to the Solarium Junior League, Box 27, Victoria.

All monies are being turned over to the Solarium's administration fund.

The total already collected represents donations from all over the province, fund officials said.

They said the campaign is waged on a province-wide basis in view of the fact the Queen Alexandra at Mill Bay is the only hospital in British Columbia devoted solely to treatment of crippled children.

Youthful patients come to the solarium from all parts of the province.

Fund officials said 900 containers and 24 of the famous "Shower of Dimes" umbrellas had been distributed. Four hundred of the containers were placed on the Mainland through the various Women's Institutes, they said.

SCHOOLS HELPING

A high record of response to the fund appeal had come from schools in the province, it was reported, with many letters from juvenile contributors accompanying the donations.

Typical of such responses, junior leaguers said, was a letter from Keefers, B.C., a small community in the Cariboo district.

The eight pupils of the Keefers school sent in a $9 contribution collected through a bingo night.

Six pupils from a school at Brayside, B.C., sent $2.50 and letter saying they wished they "could have sent more—hope this will help."

A report on campaign expenses showed less than five per cent campaign costs for the fund drive—run each year on a volunteer basis by Junior League members.

City Records Show $4,500,000 Drop In Building Permits Issued in Year

Value of construction in Victoria dropped $4,500,000 last year as compared with 1949.

Report of J. W. Oosterink, city building inspector, showed yesterday that the building total last year was $7,040,271 as against $11,542,223 in 1949.

This amount included new construction and repairs and alterations to existing buildings for which 1,965 permits was $28,967.

Of the 1,965 permits, 720 were for new buildings and the remainder for alterations and repairs. New buildings were valued at $4,857,805, and alterations at $2,182,466.

Value of residences constructed was $1,021,621; duplex dwellings, $149,450; apartment buildings, $700,300; store-office buildings, $800,500, and factories-workshops, $118,700. Biggest construction months were May and June.

Plumbing inspector Phillip Ballam reported a leveling-off trend in permits issued during 1950. The value of work done was favorable, but the number of individual units down. In 1949, 455 separate connections were made to the city sewerage system but only 226 in 1950. Total number of inspections made was 2,853, and revenue of the department was $5,842.

In the electrical inspector's department, 2,521 permits were issued and fees totalled $7,239.

Provincial Building Said Ready April 1

The new Provincial Government office building on the opposite side of Government Street from the Legislative Buildings is expected to be ready for occupancy April 1, Works Minister E. C. Carson said yesterday.

Group to Study Site for Shows

The problem of where Canadian Crescent Shows will be permitted to operate during the May 24 celebration was placed in the hands of the City Council's finance committee yesterday.

Possible sites are a portion of Central Park or on a vacant property behind the Memorial Arena. The latter would have to be graded.

The committee was given power to act.

Library Year Successful Despite Space Shortage

Victoria Library Board sounded a note of optimism in its annual report to City Council yesterday.

"In spite of the location of the library in temporary quarters, with far from adequate space, and physical conditions at times quite uncomfortable, every department has attempted to give the same service to the community for which the library has become noted," report board members.

The attempt, the report continued, has been amazingly successful, due not only to the initiative and resourcefulness of the staff, but to the understanding and co-operation of the public.

The boys' and girls' department report showed more than 1,300 books were sent to playgrounds. Books sent to Greater Victoria schools numbered 3,816 and to other Saanich schools 275. Teachers on their special cards borrowed 2,258.

"As the book stock in this department is now insufficient for both good services in the library and loans of books to schools, it is imperative that some other plan be developed if service to the schools is to be maintained," the report said.

Owing to the fact the library was closed for 24 days and possibly to the less accessible site, there was a drop of 47,916 in the circulation of books below that of 1949.

During the first ten months of last year, the film library arranged 457 programs and lent projectors for 212 showings with a total attendance of 64,083. Through the co-operation of the Greater Victoria Film Council, the parks board and the library, outdoor screenings were held weekly during July and August, average attendance being about 300.

A canyon 3,000 feet deep in the submarine shelf surrounding Australia was discovered off South Australia in 1947.

Unique City Council Romance Disclosed at Mayor's Banquet

An aldermanic romance—believed to be unique in Canadian municipal history—has come to light in Victoria.

Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter and Alderman Mrs. Hilda Baxter will be married in a few months.

The news broke Monday night at the annual dinner given by Mayor Percy E. George at the Empress Hotel. It was Alderman Waldo Skillings who let out the news.

"They didn't want to announce it yet but I persuaded Doug that this was the time and place with all the council and department heads present," declared Alderman Skillings.

Dr. Hunter then admitted the marriage would take place in a few months. The alderman, a widower, and Mrs. Baxter, a widow, were the centre of attraction for the rest of the evening.

The romance will mean another by-election since Mrs. Baxter plans to resign, taking the stand one alderman in the family is plenty.

After Alderman Skillings made the announcement, some claimed they had an intuitive feeling about the event, but most admitted it was the surprise of the year.

"Of course, when someone starts asking about hockey tickets in pairs . . . " smiled Mayor George.

Rental of Post Office Boxes Eases One-Delivery Problems

There's a way out if you think you should have more mail service than the one delivery a day now allowed in residential areas.

Victoria Postmaster J. B. Sinclair pointed out yesterday there are some 175 post office boxes available for rental to persons who are inconvenienced by the reduced service.

The postmaster indicated the once-a-day delivery, which was established this month as part of a Post Office Department staff reduction was "working out well."

He said some householders undoubtedly were not getting as good service as when the department "could afford the twice-daily mail delivery" and some inconvenience was being reported by persons who formerly got early delivery of mail.

The post office boxes would help patrons suffering real inconvenience, he said. Rental price of the boxes range from $6 to $15 a year, according to size.

Public lobby of the Victoria Post Office is open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. six days a week. On Sundays it is closed. Statutory holidays there is partial service.

Brains Will Always Be at a Premium

POINT-BLANK request to the Cabinet yesterday by the Board of Governors of the University of British Columbia for an amended Provincial grant which would permit a fairer adjustment of faculty salaries, one more in keeping with the times and the standards set by similar institutions in Canada, will not come as a surprise to anyone who has kept in touch with the situation at Point Grey. The alternative of raising student fees higher than they now are and closing some of the faculties at the newly-reorganized university would be a wholly retrogressive step in view of all the circumstances. As the board pointed out much higher scales are being paid at Toronto and elsewhere, while comparison with equivalent industrial rewards for the same qualities and brains is quite unflattering to our educational system.

Of all categories in society professional men and women working in a semi-public capacity seem to be the last to be considered. To them is denied the freedom of initiative that their knowledge would make available in any other position of equivalent standing, and also the advancement which such private enterprise makes common and in this instance certain. A research professor in an industrial laboratory may not know more than his colleague in the lecture hall, but his salary can be three times as much. A physician, surgeon or barrister on his own can rise to any height and income his ability encompasses; but it is far different with his colleague on a college faculty, who can never go beyond schedule.

Naturally under such conditions the attraction is outward, towards those green fields that are not so distant. What the University is really saying to the Government is that unless a greater degree of parity can be brought to bear upon the lot of those now engaged in teaching at the University of British Columbia we can look for withdrawals which, in sum and in part, could well cripple that institution. It is difficult, admittedly, to find more for any public purpose in these times, but here is the exceptional case where the cost of failing to do so could set at naught all of the fine progress which the University of British Columbia has made in recent times under able and progressive leaders. The sum asked is not excessive. Surely it can be found.

A Nasty Spot on the Malahat Highway

THE near-death of a Saanich truck driver on the Tunnel Hill section of the Malahat draws attention to a bad turn on the highway about which something should be done. Nimbleness of mind alone enabled him to escape with severe injuries while his truck tumbled down some 250 feet of embankment. This is by no means the first serious accident to occur at this spot, nor will it be the last if this corner goes unattended.

The Malahat driveway has been altered out of all recognition over the past fifteen years. Where once it was a tricky road over the mountain, the journey now may be taken by motor vehicles without undue hazard—except at certain points. The Tunnel Hill is one of them. The combination of a steep grade, too sharp a turn at its foot, and a yawning drop into Saanich Arm, is not calculated to reassure even the most careful driver.

No roadway can be made proof against mechanical mishap or the element of human chance, but where at all possible any physical hazard should be removed. The Island Highway just south of Tunnel Hill has been rebuilt; the Tunnel Hill section itself is slated for attention in the future. It would be a good thing if Provincial authorities could recast their plans so that this dangerous corner might at an early date be eliminated or made much more safe than it is at present. Otherwise more trucks are going to be wrecked, and perhaps not with equal escape for their drivers.

Why Hedge on Daylight Saving Time

IT has been suggested that if and when Provincial authorities issue a daylight saving order for this year the period covered will be shorter than in previous years. Why this should be so is not at all clear. Fast time is intended to give people the maximum amount of daylight possible, so by the same token it should stretch over as many months as possible. The Summer, as individuals regard it despite the calendar, has to cover at least five months for vacation purposes alone.

Nor was daylight saving designed for school children; yet if this year's Summertime were to be limited to the two months schools are closed, as has been hinted, that would make it a concession for juveniles and little else. Fast time should be considered from the adult angle, as a measure to give grown-ups more time after working hours or during brief vacation periods to make outdoor use of the Summer months. There is no good reason why daylight saving time should not be authorized for at least the five months May to September inclusive.

Letters and Excerpts

Letters to the editor on any topic of genuine interest are welcome if they are brief, accurate and fair. No letter will be inserted in whole, or in part, except over the proper signature and address of the writer. Unsolicited correspondence cannot be returned.

HORSES GO FIRST

Sir,—The Sunday re-routing of regular traffic going to and from Duncan through the Indian Reserve gave me special opportunity to bring to the attention of motor vehicle drivers the fact of which the greater majority seem ignorant—that a horse has the right-of-way and that when and if a rider or driver requests the driver of said vehicle to slow down or stop, he has to do so.

It was particularly noticed that at the approaches to bridges, while the horses were on them, very few motorists had the commonsense to wait, or even to slow down, and in several instances what might have been serious accidents were narrowly averted; particularly as one of the horses was a two-year-old, now being accustomed to road traffic.

Motor vehicle operators would do well to bear in mind that horses have as much right on the roads as the vehicle, and that in certain cases have the right of way.

MERCEDES GIBSON.

CANADA'S MANPOWER

Sir,—A short time ago the Canadian Legion held a public meeting to inform the public what they recommended in their scheme for total preparedness. A resolution was passed endorsing the scheme as it had been passed at the Dominion Convention of the Legion. This was for registration and compulsory training in the Reserve Army. There were a few opposed to this, but these were a few local young Communists. This was expected and all of them, I fancy, were of an age for being called up. Possibly they would not pass the medical test, which these days seems to specialize in psychoanalysis.

What is surprising, however, was the action of the Junior Chamber of Commerce who, as reported in the press, also opposed the Legion's scheme only this last week. . . .

This seems rather a reflection on Victoria which, in the last two wars did its share. Those of use who had experience with the mishandling of manpower in the last war are quite satisfied that voluntary enlisting is doomed to failure.

Perhaps Tom Taylor has something when he suggests, in his article in the Sunday Colonist, that Ottawa hopes to attract the males by first enrolling the females. What a state of affairs.

R. B. LONGRIDGE.

TRANSFERABLE VOTE

Sir,—As the single transferable vote is due for consideration in the Legislature, it seems unfortunate that the delegates to the Victoria and District Labor Council (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) should display such a lamentable lack of knowledge on the subject, and accidentally or purposely cloud the issue of a simple example, which a so-called expert could not explain.

If, as in the example given, 800 electors vote, and one person only is to be elected, such representative would need 401 votes to attain a clear majority over one (or more) rivals. On the first count Jones got 400 votes, Smith 300, and Green 100, and as Jones failed by one vote to get his clear majority, the low man, Green, is eliminated, and his second votes only are reconsidered. These were given 50 to Jones and 50 to Smith, leaving the final results as Jones (elected) 450 votes; Smith, 350; Green (eliminated on first count.)

This is the result the delegates considered fair, though neither they nor the expert appeared to have any idea as to how it would be attained. It is interesting to note that, under the existing system Green's 100 votes would have had no effect on the result—which under the transferable vote they were: "In at the kill" and participated in Jones' final and absolute majority.

I. D. LACHLAN.

On Pride

Of all the Causes which conspire to blind
Man's erring judgment, and misguide the mind,
What the weak head with strongest bias rules,
Is Pride, the never-failing vice of fools.
Whatever nature has in worth denied
She gives in large recruits of needful pride:
For as in bodies, thus in souls, we find
What wants in blood and spirits, swelled with wind:
Pride, where wit fails, steps in to our defence,
And fills up all the mighty Void of sense.
If once right reason drives that cloud away,
Truth breaks upon us with resistless day.
Trust not yourself; but your defects to know,
Make use of ev'ry friend—and ev'ry foe.
A little learning is a dang'rous thing;
Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring.
There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain,
And drinking largely sobers us again.

—ALEXANDER POPE.

FACING THE FACTS

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

AN eyewitness of a plane crash said that words were puny instruments with which to describe the scene. He meant, of course, that the thoughts evoked by horror seemed beyond the only kind of expression by which the tale could be told — words.

Yet it is words we live by. We wouldn't eat, ride a bus, listen to a play, or woo our wives if there were no words to pass back and forth. Some folk, unfortunately, have to overcome great odds through lack of speech, yet they, too, deal in words.

All too often we are apt to forget what words are; that they are primarily a means of communication between individuals. Actually, they serve no other purpose, although a love of words for words' sake can sometimes be noted. When, perhaps, a post-prandial speaker becomes intoxicated with his own verbosity.

* * *

He is not alone, however. Many of us tend to think we must use a big word to emphasize the importance of what we are saying when, if we only knew it, the simple word would be best. Simple words are much easier to learn, too, although they are more difficult to use with effect.

The Ottawa Journal had a few sentences on this topic when it drew attention to some famous sayings, all of them expressed in simple English:

Kipling: "Words by which men have been content to live, and for which sometimes they were content to die."

Pitt: "England has saved Europe by her exertions."

Canning: "I have called in the New World to redress the balance of the Old."

Gladstone: "The resources of civilization are not exhausted."

Parnell: "No man may set a boundary to the march of a nation."

Patrick Henry: "Give me liberty or give me death."

Churchill: "Toil, sweat, blood and tears."

Macdonald: "A British subject I was born and a British subject I will die."

Laurier: "The Twentieth Century belongs to Canada."

Each of these sayings has gone on when all but one of the speakers have passed into history.

There are, points out the Ottawa paper, 88 words in the phrases quoted. Sixty-six of them are words of one syllable, 13 of two syllables, including proper names, and nine are words of three syllables.

To aim great thoughts, then, there is no need to look for big words.

* * *

The average person is not aiming to coin phrases for posterity, of course, or to reform the world, albeit there are a lot of reformers extant at the moment. It is encouraging, though, to remember that we need not search our brains — or the dictionary — for fancy groups of letters in order to make our meaning clear.

There is a certain grace attached to a nicely flowing sentence, it can't be denied; but even here the short word is often the most felicitous. The only drawback, as noted before, is that it takes careful picking.

After all, you can produce a clear melody on the piano without using two-thirds of the keys. You won't embellish the tune with the chords that create harmony and majestic sound, but you can pass along the air. With most of us perhaps this should be our main ambition when it comes to words, merely to pass along what we have in mind as plainly as possible.

Then we won't get out of our depths, as I'm afraid we too often do.

(North American Newspaper Alliance)

LONDON.—One fact emerges clearly from the big debates in the House of Commons and that is that the Socialists retain the initiative in deciding when there shall be a general election.

This could come before the budget in April, but politicians on both sides of the House seem to think, that Herbert Morrison, the Socialist party manager and Prime Minister Clement Attlee's chief adviser on political strategy, will wait until the Festival of Britain is over before deciding whether to propose an election in the coming Autumn or to wait until the Spring of 1952.

This rather makes a change in the over-all political picture in England, since the Conservatives for some time past have been expecting a general election in the Spring or Summer. But the recent turn of events in the House of Commons has somewhat modified their attitude.

There is, besides, a section of the Opposition which feels very strongly that the Labor Government has got itself into a hopeless mess with its doctrinaire policy about national ownership, and supports the view that if the Government is allowed to "stew in its own juice" for some time longer the next general election, whenever it comes, will show a correspondingly large anti-Socialist majority.

For the time being it is recognized that Labor supporters of the Government will continue to support it, but public opinion will not accept present food conditions—I say nothing about steel, of which the average man or woman understands very little.

* * *

The Government points out that the cost-of-living index—which is drawn up on principles that do not represent present-day conditions—has only risen very slightly, and it also asserts that the prices of rationed foods have remained static. That is the truth, but not the whole truth. In every home in Britain the butchers' bills are down, thanks to the financial gymnastics of Maurice Webb, the Minister of Food, and his illustrious predecessors; but the sale in the grocery shops of canned pork, canned rabbit, preserved fish, canned steak and that awful stuff known in England as "luncheon meat," which is neither meat nor fit to be eaten at lunch, has been sky-rocketed and the prices have been going up correspondingly.

Within this reporter's own experience, canned ham—which is about the only one of the commodities just quoted which is worth eating—has gone up in price by nearly 40 per cent. It is these costly foods, which householders are bound to buy in greater or smaller quantities since meat has practically disappeared, that arouse so much bitterness, and it is very certain that this bitterness will, sooner or later, be reflected in the people's votes.

* * *

The public is already beginning to criticize the Government even about the steps which it is taking to find new sources of food production. Some of this criticism, this correspondent thinks, is due to a growing dislike of the Cabinet. For instance, there were recently two high officials of the Ministry of Food in France seeking to negotiate a meat agreement. They were, no doubt, enjoying the traditional French hospitality.

Now, people in England, and not Conservatives but supporters of the Labor Government, are saying that this visit is just eyewash and that it was arranged not in order to obtain meat from France but in order to put the screw on other and earlier meat sources, such as Argentina and Australia and New Zealand.

Be that as it may, these comments are a fresh and unflattering reflection on Attlee's administration and, when all is said and done, the odds are that this Government is going out not because it has mismanaged the coal and transport industries or because it is probably going to mismanage the steel industry, but because it has cut down clumsily and unreasonably on the people's food.

Napoleon once remarked that an army marches on its stomach. I should not be surprised if the British elector voted on his.

Involuntary Sabotage

(From Saturday Night, Toronto)

ANY labor organization which insists upon receiving for an hour's work more than the producing institution can get from the sale of the product of that amount of labor is sabotaging the economy, although its members may be completely unaware of the fact. If, as is now usually the case because international competition is not available to act as a regulator of prices, the producing institution is able to add the increased cost of the labor to the price of the product, then the labor organization is simply holding society to ransom by means of its monopoly power. Its members are probably quite unaware that they are doing so, or they may be aware of it and convinced that this is a proper and justifiable course because they have seen their capitalist employers doing just the same thing.

It is not much use trying to defend the profits of employers when they have been the result of extortionate use of a monopoly position, and unfortunately the history of industry on this continent is not free from examples of that sort of thing. But it must be pointed out that they were never pushed to the point of causing a general depreciation of the currency such as is now in process, and that the reason was that they occurred only in isolated instances, whereas the present monopoly exactions of organized labor are covering practically the whole field of industrial production, while the parity doctrine in agriculture is extending the same result into vast fields which organized labor could not reach.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

EZIO Pinza singing "Some Enchanted Evening" killed that charming song for everybody else. When you hear other singers, male or female, attempting it, you feel sorry for them. Or you jump up in distress and turn off the radio.

This same thing has happened in music and the theatre over and over again. For example, Shakespeare could so be acted by Garrick or Mrs. Siddons that for years at a time nobody would attempt Shakespeare until the memory of such great actors had died away in the public mind. Certain songs "belonged" to Jenny Lynd or Patti, and practically disappeared from other programs for their generation.

Artists can thus be almost too great, as far as the performing arts are concerned. But in all other arts we are eternally indebted to men possessing a talent like that of Pinza with that one song. It was an artist, long ago, who gave us the shape of almost everything we use, bowls, table knives, windows, books, wagons, boats. We might suppose that the shape and style of all these things came to us by some process of trial and error. But history shows that we progressed in sudden leaps. And those leaps were occasioned by artists who did the thing they could do so perfectly that the whole of mankind immediately accepted the shape and style as the only one.

We can't leave Pinza without this one more thought: that either he or someone with a similar genius ought to be the first to sing some of those dreadful songs that plague us from month to month, and which fill the air from morning to night until they just wear themselves and us out. Pinza could kill them at birth.

But it takes mediocrity to popularize these ditties. They are the type of song that anybody can take a crack at, and everybody in the business seems impelled to do so, each in his or her own fashion. And until they have beaten the poor thing to death, we all have to suffer.

INFLATION

The Smithsons went away for their Winter vacation and gave Jane, their maid, a month's wages.

On their return, four weeks later, Jane demanded higher wages.

Mrs. Smithson was horrified.

"Gracious, Jane," she exclaimed, "you've only just had a holiday with full wages! You should consider yourself very fortunate."

"That's just it," said Jane. "You paid me that money for doing nothing, so it isn't fair to expect me to do all the work now for the same wages."

Reds Tighten Ranks For New Offensive

—INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. News Analyst

The Communists in Europe are rallying for a great Spring offensive.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi of Italy set the keynote recently when he said that this would be the Spring of crisis; that there would be some hope of escaping immediate war if the next few months are safely passed.

The return of Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti from Moscow to Italy, the activity of recently-returned William Pieck to East Germany and the expected return of Maurice Thorez to France set the stage for the next act in the East-West conflict.

The great question is whether the European Communists will merely continue their long-term campaigns with some new twists, or whether fifth columns are being mobilized for their customary part in war.

OFFENSIVE FAILS

One of their great activities has been the "peace offensive," in the hope of consolidating European fear of war into an international movement which would leave the countries weak and open to the revolutionists. So far this has failed, although still a highly-complicating [illegible] resistance to Moscow.

But at the same time there has been a terrific purging of the party, with less interest in the non-Communists who once voted Communist tickets and more on the preparation of air-tight cadres quickly adaptable to the will of the Kremlin.

Now we are to see whether the peace offensive is to be augmented by physical as well as political sabotage. The war factories are starting up. The ships begin to arrive from the United States with military supplies. Tension is rising.

FAN RIVALRIES

Tito has announced that Yugoslavia will be in any European war. France has issued a statement of its support for Yugoslavia, joining Washington and London. Hungary and the other Soviet satellites are playing up ancient rivalries with Yugoslavia. Turkey and Greece are talking up a Mediterranean defence arrangement to include Yugoslavia. The United States is pushing the establishment of air bases from which strikes could be directed at Southwestern Russia and her greatest oil fields.

If Togliatti, Thorez and the other leaders who have been conferring in Moscow have returned home with orders to start physical sabotage, beyond the labor strikes and political sabotage to which the Communists already are committed, the fear of war will be immensely heightened.

Satellite Attack Not Expected By Tito in 1951

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (INS).—United States sources reported today Marshal Tito feels Yugoslavia will be free from attack this year by the neighboring Russian satellites of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

However, no estimate was made on what might happen in 1952.

These sources made known that Tito is definitely opposed to any immediate military alliance with the Western Powers—although he would like to borrow from $250,000,000 to $400,000,000 from the World Bank or U.S. Export Bank, or both.

The State Department this week was a vast clearing house of information presented by officials just back from Europe, the Middle East, the Pacific—and Yugoslavia.

It was reported that Tito feels, and U.S. officials concur, that only Hungary is showing definite war-like symptoms at the present time, although Bulgaria is noticeably building up.

Construction of air raid shelters in Budapest was particularly noticed.

Oddities

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP).—Transport Minister Alfred Barnes told the House of Commons today he will introduce "a system of unilateral waiting for cars" in some mid-town streets to ease traffic congestion.

Asked what the Minister meant, a press officer explained:

"Parking on one side of the street only, old boy."

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Feb. 27 (AP).—An irate housewife threw the car keys out of the car window Monday and four men, including her husband, landed in the hands of the law.

Mrs. James Gibson got angry at her husband on a highway. Gibson jammed on the brakes to retrieve the keys and a three-car smashup resulted.

Gibson was booked on charges of reckless driving. The driver of the second car was charged with operating a car without a driver's licence. His companion, the owner of the car, was charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

The driver of the third car was arrested on a charge of improper car registration.

No charge was placed against Mrs. Gibson.

Province's "Good Luck" Wish to U.K. Expressed in Huge Native Flagstaff

By G. E. MORTIMORE
Colonist Staff Reporter

LONDON, Feb. 27.—British Columbia's "good luck" wish to the Festival of Britain is expressed by seven tons of B.C. timber, shaped into Britain's largest unsupported flagstaff.

L. Dana Wilgress, Canada's High Commissioner in London, ran up the first flag on the 102-foot-high mast today during a ceremony which took place in a restaurant in the Royal Festival Hall, which, upon completion, will be one of the main attractions for visitors when the Festival opens in May.

W. A. McAdam, Agent-General for B.C., and Mrs. McAdam took part in the ceremony, and also present was Maurice Tribe of Courtenay. Mr. Tribe, father of John Tribe, Saanich municipal clerk, is in England for a year's holiday.

The flagstaff was originally intended for the London County Council, whose flagpole was damaged during the war.

Other flagstaffs of B.C. timber here are the 82-foot staff at the Tower of London and the 215-foot mast in Kew Gardens.

Toll of Smallpox Reaches New Peak

CALCUTTA, Feb. 27 (Reuters).—Calcutta health authorities said yesterday that 500 persons died here of smallpox last week — highest weekly death toll claimed by the disease this century. In the previous week 462 deaths were reported. Nearly 4,000 have died since the epidemic began in December.

Fraud Charge Amount Raised

VANCOUVER, Feb. 27 (CP).—Clyde Gillies, 42, Victoria salesman, who was arrested a week ago on a charge of defrauding the public of $10,000, faced an amended charge alleging the fraud was $18,000, when he appeared today in police court. He was remanded a week by Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson.

No plea was taken. Prosecutor Stewart McMorran told the court that since the first charge was laid, six more persons had come forward alleging they also were defrauded.

The bail was raised from $7,000 to $10,000. Gillies will also face charges in Victoria of theft and fraud involving $18,000.

Selection of Canadian Officer Confirms Intent to Aid Europe

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP).—Canada's intention to fulfill her offer to send ground forces to Europe was underlined today by appointment of a lieutenant-colonel as a staff officer at General Eisenhower's supreme headquarters in France. He is French-born Allen L. Brady, 34, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Appointment of an R.C.A.F officer to a similar type of post will be announced shortly. Canada's contribution of an 11-squadron air division, involving about 7,000 men, in time, will be this country's main share in European defence.

PLANS SIDETRACKED

Meanwhile, the plans to send an army brigade of 5,000 men to Europe soon have been sidetracked by decision to send the brigade to Korea. Canadian officials now are discussing in Washington arrangements to ship the brigade, called the 25th, to Korea and discussions about the movement have been going on here with Brig. John M. Rockingham, the 25th's commander. They may end tomorrow.

At the same time as these discussions are going on, Cabinet and Defence Headquarters also are pondering what to do about ground forces for Europe. The appointment of Col. Brady as a general staff officer at the Eisenhower headquarters indicated that it is far from a dead issue.

Robbery Suspects Held

MONTREAL, Feb. 27 (CP).—Two heavily-armed men, believed to be the "kissing bandits" wanted for a $3,000 holdup of a north-end Rosemount bank three weeks ago, and a female accomplice were captured at gunpoint today after the $6,700 robbery of the same bank.

Police declined to identify the trio.

Police said they forced a taxi driver to take part in the holdup but made the mistake of bringing the man inside the bank with them.

The driver, also unidentified, gave his licence number to one of the customers who passed it on to the police.

Two veterans of the police holdup squad, Detective-Sgts. Pat Melancon and Adrien Cardinal, captured the trio after a brief chase during which police pumped three bullets into the getaway car.

Police said the three suspects hailed a taxicab and forced the driver to take them to a Banque Canadienne Nationale branch.

Each armed with a gun, the two men walked into the office of Manager Fernand Hebert and ordered him to open the vault. Eight other persons were in the bank at the time.

The gunmen herded the people into the basement where they tied their feet with rope.

Little Boy Lost

But he did not. He looked at the small white face turned so absorbedly to his and asked abruptly, "What did you have to eat before you came out with me?"

"Some bread and a lump of sugar," answered Jean. "We have that after lessons." His eyes searched Hilary's face, looking for approbation.

"And for lunch?" said Hilary. "What did you have for lunch?"

The boy dropped his eyes. "I don't remember."

Help me to be slow and careful, prayed Hilary. He said in a deliberately cheerful voice, "Now when I was a little boy, the thing I liked best to eat was fried potatoes."

Jean was watching him again, the dull defensive look fading from his eyes. He said cautiously, "I think I'd like fried potatoes, too."

But now Hilary was stuck again. He could think of no food that it was probable the little boy had ever tasted. He tried, "Will you tell me about the book you read—the book about Africa?"

It seemed that this was a question not to be shied from but embraced. Jean said, "I read it during reading-lessons, because I can read and the other boys in my class can't. I sit at the back and read it all the time."

"But how is it," Hilary asked, "that you can read and the other boys can't?"

Jean answered simply, "I don't know, monsieur," not evading the question; but offering Hilary the truth.

Hilary glanced at his watch. "It's a quarter-past seven," he said, trying to keep relief from his voice. "We'll have to be getting back or the Mother Superior will be angry with me."

He rose, and silently the little boy slid from the seat and stood waiting, and again in his eyes was the agonized entreaty with which he had first greeted his visitor. Hilary found himself saying very gently, "It's all right, Jean. I'm coming to take you out again tomorrow, and the next day too."

Without changing his expression the little boy asked, "And the day after that?"

Hilary said uneasily, "We'll have to see about that, won't we?" and the child looked quickly at the ground and Hilary could no longer see the big imploring eyes. "Come on," he said.

They started to walk up the hill in silence, Jean keeping close to Hilary's side. It was dark now. Gradually the boy began to lag behind and Hilary, at last noticing this, said with the tenderness of compunction, "Jean, are you tired?"

A small voice said with a quaver, "No, monsieur."

"But I am," said Hilary. "Won't you take my hand so that we can help each other up the hill?" He put out his own hand and firmly grasped the child's which was icily, inhumanly cold. He said with agony, "Haven't you any gloves?"

"No, monsieur," said Jean easily. You could hear in his voice how much he regretted the answer he knew must displease. Then he offered hopefully, "Robert has gloves, he has blue ones. His aunt made them for him."

They turned in at the orphanage gate. Hilary said, "I must give you back properly or perhaps they won't lend you to me again." They climbed the steps and Hilary rang the bell.

The door was opened again by the fat nun. She and Jean spontaneously and lovingly smiled at each other before she said, "Now you say 'thank you' nicely to monsieur, and then run off to bed—quick."

Jean lifted glowing eyes to Hilary and said fervently, "Oh, thank you, monsieur," and then turned and ran away, his boots clip-clopping on the checkered marble floor as he went.

"He's a nice child," said the nun, half roughly, half lovingly, and then, "The Mother Superior asks, monsieur, if you will take a cup of coffee with her before you go?" and Hilary, longing to be alone, longing to examine his thoughts and emotions in privacy, longing to escape, could only bow politely and say that he would be delighted.

CHAPTER XIV

The Mother Superior said, "It is seldom that I am able to finish my work early enough to give myself the pleasure of receiving visitors," and Hilary knew that she was reassuring him, telling him that after tonight's ceremonial visit, he would be free to bring back the child and quietly depart.

The nun handed Hilary his coffee. "It's not real coffee, I'm afraid," she apologized. "Real coffee is virtually unobtainable now."

"I wish I'd known," said Hilary, ashamed that he had not thought to bring such a welcome gift.

She said laughingly, "We are always told that the English make bad coffee, but I can see from your face that it is not as bad as this."

"No, indeed," said Hilary. "Ma mere, is this really all that is available in France?"

"Except on the black market," said the nun.

This talk of food reminded Hilary of the little boy. He asked, "Do you get enough for your children to eat?"

"No," said the Mother Superior, vehemently. "We do not. In these days our unhappy country has little food to offer to those who must buy in the cheapest market. There must be eggs for children, but when you look for them in the market they are never to be found. We get a little milk, but only for children under six years. Meat we can hardly ever buy. We must all hope that soon conditions will get better, but in the meantime," she spoke with passion, "these—these are the most important years in our children's lives."

"Is Jean healthy?" Hilary demanded.

Mrs. Annie Borgal, Box 214, Reserve Mines, N.S., is a well-known resident of the Maritimes. A young woman of 34, Mrs. Borgal suffered for many years with arthritic pain. She tried a great many remedies without success and the pain was so bad that she had difficulty in sleeping at night. Here is what Mrs. Borgal says in her letter: "I suffered with arthritic pain for 12 years, tried many remedies to get relief and could not. I could not get a good night's rest for the pains I had in my arms and legs. I would like you to know that the first bottle of SARNAK brought me relief. SARNAK so relieved my pain that I was able to get my rest and I am sure I will never find anything that does me as much good as SARNAK."

Yes, you should try SARNAK . . . as have thousands of others in Canada who suffer from rheumatic, neuritic and arthritic pain, sciatica, backache, lumbago or neuralgia, some minor forms of kidney and liver upsets, bilious dizzy spells, nutritional anemia, lack of vitality and nervousness caused by these symptoms. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general run-down condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on the genuine SARNAK. In some rural sections where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.

A Report to Electrical Customers of the B.C. Electric:

For the first time in history, the B.C. Electric is filing an increase in residential rates and in "small use" industrial rates.

The general reason is that since 1939 the costs of supplying electricity have more than doubled while the price has gone down about 25%.

In 1939 the average price paid by householders on Vancouver Island was 3.57c a kilowatt hour. By 1950 this had dropped to 2.13c.

The immediate reason is a further substantial increase in wage costs, effective March 1st, and a sharp rise, since the outbreak of Korean hostilities, in the prices of materials and supplies that we use to serve you.

In the meantime, in order to supply you with the utility services you require and to avoid "brown-outs," our large program of expansion must be carried on. During the five years from 1946 to 1950 we spent $108,000,000 for the improvement and expansion of our services. During the next five years our planned program for over-all requirements is estimated at $111,000,000.

For the successful financing of this development it is necessary that our net revenues be adequate to continue to attract investments from life insurance companies, trust companies and private investors among whom are several thousands of our customers.

The change in electrical rates is chiefly in the number of kilowatt hours that are sold in the first and third steps, respectively, while in Greater Victoria the rate of the first step is increased from 4½c to 5c a kilowatt hour. The increased cost per family in Victoria will average 2.7c a day, and not exceed 4c a day except for users of very large amounts.

Power rates are being increased for industries whose electrical bill is typically 1% or less of their total cost of production.

The new rates will increase our revenues from electrical services by 10.2% (Vancouver Island system, 7.4%). They will leave the price of the electricity we supply below the 1939 level. Electricity will be one of the very few things you can still buy at prewar prices.

War Threat Prime Cause

Veterans' Back-to-Land Trend Seen

By BARNEY McKINLEY

The threat of another world war is apparently sparking a back-to-the-land movement.

Ex-servicemen are seeking to establish rural homes for their families in anticipation of another possible call to serve in the nation's armed forces.

The move is more noticeable in British Columbia than in the rest of Canada, and particularly intensified in the Victoria area.

G. L. Chatterton, regional supervisor of the D.V.A. Veterans' Land Act administration said yesterday applications for qualification from veterans in January, 1951, totaled 45 compared to 29 received in the same month of 1950.

GREATER RISE

Applications for assistance, which follow when a veteran's qualifications have been approved, showed an even greater step-up. In January, 1950, 15 applications for assistance in buying properties were added to the books. This year the total was 39.

If the year's pace matches that of its first month, officials said, the local office will be coping with a number of applications that may reach the peak levels of 1946 and 1947.

The local office gave three reasons for the volume of business.

First was the war threat.

OTHER CAUSES

The other causes were "favorable publicity given to the advantages of the Veterans' Land Act provisions," and the fact that rising costs have forced ex-servicemen who anticipated financing on their own to seek assistance now.

The regional supervisor said 1,153 veterans had been established under V.L.A. through the Victoria office. Ten per cent of the total were full-time farmers, he said.

A list of 719 qualified, but not yet established on holdings, can be added to the number dealt with here, he said.

Local office figures showed an increase of 21 per cent in applications in 1950. For Canada the figure was 10.8, for British Columbia, 13.4.

Vancouver Island's higher proportionate figure might be due to the fact that there is a greater percentage of ex-servicemen in the population here, it was said.

Masonic Funeral For City Realtor

Services will be conducted privately at Royal Oak Chapel under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge. Cremation will follow.

Gilbert and Sullivan Society Stages "Yeomen of the Guard"

By RAY BAINES

Throughout the history of musical stage presentations, few people have ever tired of the bright musical satire and charming nonsense turned out by W. S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan.

The audience present at the Royal Theatre last night for the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society performance of the "Yeomen of the Guard" was small, but those [illegible] around that the whole effort was pretty worth while.

With Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, if you don't like the music, you can listen to wonderful lyrics; if you don't care for the words, you can sit back and absorb the many gay tunes, and if you care for neither of these, there's a gay and harmlessly complicated plot sprinkled liberally with colorful costumes and pretty faces.

LITTLE TROUBLE

The Victoria G. and S. group managed to turn in a fine job on all three counts although first-night jitters gave some of the singers a little pitch trouble.

The soloists, choruses and orchestra under musical director Harry Bigby were on the whole satisfying. The only weakness noticed, and this rarely was a little lack of fullness and clear diction. This probably was due to first-night technical difficulties and stage noises.

As "Elsie," Pauline Barnett displayed one of the prettiest soprano voices heard locally for some time. Her personal charm and startling on-stage resemblance to British movie actress Jean Simmons made her all the more suitable for the role.

ABLE VETERAN

Most able at mouthing the wonderful Gilbert and Sullivan "words with songs" was Jim Mead-Robins, six-year veteran of the society's performances. He was remembered for his portrayal of "Koko" in last year's performance of the Mikado.

Well-known World War veteran Alan White played "Colonel Fairfax" with ability and a pleasing tenor voice. He has appeared in all six of the previous presentations.

Newcomer Pamela Newton was good as "Phoebe." Her ability as an actress equaled her talent as a singer.

FINE VOICE

In the role of "Wilfred," John MacDonald managed to make an unsympathetic role pleasing and, at times, highly amusing. In the infrequent chances he had to sing, MacDonald displayed a pretty fine voice, too.

All good were Evelyn Rogers as "Dame Carruther," pretty Dianne Clifford as "Kate," Ivan Howell as "Sergeant Meryle," Don McKay as "Leonard Meryl," and Bob Golding as the "Lieutenant."

In all, the thing is well worth seeing. Aside from the fact that the performance is sponsored by the Gyro Club for a good cause, future entertained.

Scheduled to do "Yeomen" here to-night and tomorrow night, the company will then move to Duncan to give two performances Saturday afternoon and evening.

Council Hits Rate Increase

VANCOUVER, Feb. 27. (CP).—A "militant" protest against the proposed increase in electric power rates will be launched by Greater Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.).

Amid charges that B.C. Electric Company officials "are running the city," delegates voted at their weekly meeting tonight to unite with all organized labor in fighting the increase.

Car Licences Expire Today

All British Columbia vehicles operating on the streets and highways tomorrow must have 1951 licences or tabs. Those who drive cars without new licences Thursday will be liable to fines.

Driver's licences of persons whose birthdays fall between September 1 this year and February 28, 1952, also expire today.

Trial Enters Second Day On Injury Claim for Boy

Trial of a damage suit brought by Kenneth Easton, 3441 Bonair Place, on behalf of his nine-year-old son Murray against City Police Sergeant Thomas Stevenson, moved into its second day yesterday in Supreme Court, before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

The boy's father, represented by H. W. Davey, K.C., is seeking $2,401 in special damages and an unnamed amount in general damages for injuries sustained by his son when he was knocked down by a car driven by Sergeant Stevenson in a school zone on Shelbourne Street, October 24, 1949.

The sergeant was subsequently convicted of dangerous driving.

LIST INJURIES

Injuries listed in the claim include laceration of the brain, damage to the pituitary gland, ruptured liver, dislocated neck and cerebral concussion.

Dr. J. G. Patterson, city physician who attended Murray, testified yesterday that obesity, lethargy and diminished mental activity had resulted from the accident.

Referred to what he termed "listlessness" and "forgetfulness" on the part of the boy, the doctor said that he felt they were not due to "nervousness" but to cerebral injuries.

Murray appeared to be suffering from intermittent interruptions of nerve pathways, producing periodic mental retardation, Dr. Patterson stated.

SCAR TISSUE

Scar tissue on the brain would cause such interruptions, he said.

The doctor described the symptoms as similar to those of "petit mal," a mild form of epilepsy, adding that it was difficult to say whether the condition would improve or become worse.

Asked by Joseph McKenna, K.C., counsel for the defendant, if the boy had made a "good recovery," Dr. Patterson replied: "In a comparative sense, yes."

The boy would always have to "watch his activities" and refrain from strenuous sports, the doctor said.

New Course

LIEUT.-COL. ARTHUR PERRON

Commandant of the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (Coast and Anti-Aircraft), has initiated a new type of course for assessment of potential non-commissioned officers through aptitude tests and other tests which determine military and technical knowledge and the ability to function effectively under adverse conditions. The course was made necessary by a demand for a great number of capable N.C.O.'s which could not be met with the inaccurate "hit and miss" procedure formerly used.

City Council Debates Question Of Open Committee Meetings

Some city aldermen don't like news reporters attending committee meetings because often they first hear about a recommendation when it appears in a newspaper. But City Council decided to leave decision up to individual committee chairmen.

The subject came up for discussion informally at the conclusion of yesterday's council meeting. Press attendance at committee meetings was inaugurated recently on the [illegible] of City Manager C. C. Wyatt.

Ald. William Pinfold raised the point, and everyone joined in the discussion—including City Hall reporters.

Ald. Millard Mooney flatly declared he is opposed to the press attending anything but council meetings. It was embarrassing for aldermen, he explained, when they couldn't answer residents' questions about newspaper stories because they didn't happen, to be on the committee concerned.

Ald. Robert Macmillan took an opposite stand. He thought reporters should be allowed into all meetings.

Ald. Pinfold felt the present open committee system better than the old system under which reporters had to wait outside and later buttonhole members to get a story.

He sounded the theme of the discussion when he said newspaper accounts often can be harmful when business transactions are being negotiated. Other [illegible]

Mayor Percy E. George wondered if such business matters could be left to the end of a committee meeting. The press, he explained, then could leave at the conclusion of discussion of matters suitable for publication.

DIFFICULTIES

The city manager said: "As is the case in all innovations there are bound to be some difficulties."

He added that the press could be asked to leave during discussion of some matters, and then informed of the decision later.

Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie disapproved of reporters attending welfare committee meetings because of the private nature of some of the business.

"My experience has been that the press is very careful and never breaks faith," put in Ald. Percy Scurrah.

Annual College Program

Third "French Evening" To Offer Music, Drama

Third annual "French Evening" program" at Victoria College will be staged March 3 this year.

It will include specially-selected music, a color film on the life of the celebrated painter, Vincent Van Gogh, and a stage presentation of one act of Marcel Pagnol's comedy "Topaze."

Claude Treil, a professor of French at the college, will take the leading role in "Topaze" in addition to directing the student members of the cast.

PROBLEMS, TRIALS

The first act of the play, which depicts the problems and trials of a timid and ineffectual school teacher, presents 11 brief scenes from his bewildered career.

Musical section of the program will feature June Milburn, Gerald Shaw, Daryl Logan and Carol Wootton.

A. Anfossy, French Consul for Western Canada, and Mrs. Anfossy, and Dr. J. G. Andison, new head of the French department at the University of British Columbia, and Mrs. Andison, are expected to come over from Vancouver for the event.

CLAUDE TREIL

They are patrons of the French Evening, along with J. B. Clearihue, president of the College Council.

PROCEEDS USED

Two years ago $200 from a similar program was sent to the Caen Fund. Last year's proceeds of $130 were added to the Mme. Sanderson-Mongin Memorial Scholarship fund, established in apreciation of the work of the well-known Victoria teacher who died here recently.

This year, proceeds will be used to set up prizes for Victoria College students showing the most progress in oral French.

Fourth Offer Seen Today In Walkout

Operators of two Victoria mattress and furniture plants may bring a fourth offer to their 45 striking employees this afternoon, in an effort to end a shutdown which has lasted more than a month.

Members of the Furniture Workers' Union (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) employed by the Victoria Bed & Mattress Co. Ltd., and Parker's Manufacturing Co. Ltd., have turned down three settlement offers—for a 6 and 8-percent wage increase, and another proposed nine-cent hourly pay boost.

According to Victor Midgely, union spokesman, the strikers are holding out for a 12-cent hourly pay increase and other concessions.

Women Hurt In Explosion Of Gas Stove

One Victoria housewife was in hospital and another treated at hospital for burns suffered yesterday afternoon when a gas stove exploded.

The explosion occurred in the home of Mrs. F. K. Lambeth, 1306 Bay Street. Mrs. Lambeth is reported in "good" condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Lambeth and Mrs. W. Garner, 2655 Scott Street, were both treated for facial and arm burns, but Mrs. Garner was allowed to go home.

City firemen extinguished the blaze, which was confined to a corner of the kitchen.

Canadian Markets Ease

Wall Street Waits for Washington Cue

By The Associated Press

Two distinct sinking spells—one at the start and one at the close—put Wall Street down sharply yesterday.

Losses ran to more than $2 a share among leaders, and $1 drops were frequent throughout the list.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the session was the volume of business or rather the lack of business.

Trading came to a total of 1,680,000 shares with prices falling fast. But Monday when quotations were steady and some of the blue chips turned in sparkling performances the volume came to 1,650,000 shares.

Both Monday and yesterday the market awaited some definite action from Washington on wages and price controls.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 80 cents to $94.90. The industrial component of the average lost 80 cents, the rails 90 cents and utilities 20 cents.

TORONTO DECLINES

Prices [illegible] over a broad front in quiet, dull dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

The drop was similar to last week's sell-off in that there was no big rush to sell. Trading was fairly quiet and volume of about 1,450,000 shares was in keeping with the slow pace of the last week.

Industrial declines ranged to more than a point. Steels led with a wide list of issues lower, and papers, utilities, agricultures, foods, textiles, liquors, refining oils, banks and manufacturing companies showed a majority of losses.

Base metals posted an almost solid column of minus signs.

Western oils drifted lower with [illegible] to 25 cents.

McIntyre dropped more than $1 to lead senior golds downward. Junior producers eased pennies to quiet trading.

MONTREAL EASES

In Montreal, a hesitant security list eased under late selling pressure in fairly slow trading.

The market followed a pattern similar to that of Monday's trend. Industrial losses near the close ranged to three points or more in leaders and ruled over a wide front.

Steels, constructions and textiles were prominent losers in the industrial section, where all groups displayed a majority of minus signs.

Noranda and Consolidated Smelters featured senior metals with drops of 3½ points to 80, and two points to 141, respectively.

Utilities were unchanged to a trifle easier. Senior oils were narrowly mixed, while banks were firm.

VANCOUVER FIRMS

In Vancouver, trading showed a little more strength but prices were sluggish.

Allied led oils with a gain of .03 to 1.23, and Zodiac was up .03 to 143, while Federated was off .20 to 7.45.

In base metals, Western Uranium was off .05 to 1.80, and Base Metals Mining was down .01 to .59.

GRAINS ERRATIC

Selling increased in final trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and early gains in all grains were reduced or erased at the close.

May and July rye went up the maximum ten-cent limited in the first half of the session as aggressive buying by shippers and others appeared on the market. However, increased offerings sent prices downward near the close.

U.S. Changes Controls From Prices to Margins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP).—The United States Government today unfroze the retail prices of clothing, furniture, rugs, lamps, drygoods and household textiles, and clamped a new freeze on the retailer's "margin" between what he pays and what he receives.

Many price increases are expected but officials say they expect some price cuts. Price Director Michael V. Disalle told reporters: "My guess is that the rollbacks will be greater than the roll-forwards."

Disalle's Office of Price Stabilization issued the first of a series of "margin-type" orders designed to put price controls on a "fairer and more workable" basis than could be expected from the freeze of January 25.

The action affects about 233,000 retail companies. It covers an estimated 200,000 different items of merchandise.

These retailers must get on the new basis no later than March 29. They must mark their goods with the selling price by July 1.

Disalle announced: "The basic objective of this regulation is to establish typical pre-Korean mark-up practices at retail."

But the percentage of margins, or mark-ups, was not rolled back to a pre-Korean date.

On the contrary, each retailer will base his percentage on the percentage he received last Saturday, February 24.

This was the second major move taken today on the controls front. In the other, the National Production Authority set up a system under which businessmen, farmers, and private institutions and others can use a priority rating to get limited supplies of scarce goods for maintenance, repair and operations.

Major items not affected by the new retail prices order are food, beverages, gasoline and oil, automotive equipment and supplies, large appliances such as refrigerators, drugs, cosmetics, lumber, building supplies, hardware, stationery, fuel, jewelry and housewares.

Later orders will put margin-type rules into effect on such items as those and on wholesalers and manufacturers, too.

Control Board Relaxes Rules On U.S. Deals

OTTAWA, Feb. 27 (CP).—The Foreign Exchange Control Board today announced virtual elimination of wartime restrictions on international trading in long-term Government securities.

The order applies to all Canadian Government domestic securities other than those due or callable within three years.

The move has twin action:

1. Americans or other non-residents now will be able to trade Canadian corporation bonds and stocks for long-term Canadian Government securities, cracking the 12-year ban which forbid cross-trading between the Government and non-Government field.

2. Canadians can trade Canadian Government securities in the American market, and acquire a wide range of Canadian securities or readily marketable United States securities. Previously, re-investment in the United States was restricted to the kind of Government bonds sold.

Canadian Fund Reports Gains

The 1950 annual report of Canadian Investment Fund, Ltd. shows total net assets at December 31, of $39,277,667, the increase for the year being $13,959,100, a gain of 55 per cent. Outstanding shares of the fund numbered 6,737,095 reflecting an increase of 1,659,075 shares or 32 per cent.

The report states that at the end of 1950 the balance of realized profits on sales of investments amounted to $1,246,174 and, in addition, the quoted market value of investments owned was $8,333,381 greater than their cost to the fund.

The four quarterly dividends Shareholders numbered more than 14,000 reflecting an increase of approximately 35 per cent last year. totalling 25 cents per share paid by the fund in 1950 were the highest in the company's history and compare with payments of 17 cents in 1945, 16 cents in 1939, and 13 cents in 1933.

The report includes a tabulation showing that the rise in dividends paid by the fund over the past 17 years substantially offset the rise in the cost of living in that period measured by the official index.

During 1950 increases occurred in the fund's holdings in 50 common stocks, one preferred stock and two bond issues. Reductions occurred in ten common stocks, one preferred stock and three bond issues. Among the larger increases in holdings last year were 12,000 shares C.P.R., 6,000 shares Consolidated Smelters, 17,250 Consolidated Paper, 14,000 shares Dominion Textile, 14,000 shares International Nickel, and 20,000 shares Price Brothers.

London Market

LONDON, Feb. 27 (Reuters).—The trading period ended quietly in the London Stock Exchange today with industrial shares mainly steady and British Government stocks fractionally higher.

Among the former, investors showed some interest in motors and engineerings but other groups were neglected and recorded a few narrowly irregular movements.

Another batch of good dividends kept interest in rubbers at a high level and prices were firmer.

Free State Developing gold issues were helped by a borehole result from the area, while coppers improved with some Paris support for new account reported.

Double-dummy problems are rarely presented in this column because these come closer to being ordinary puzzles than to illustrating conditions of actual play. However, a correspondent has sent in the following hand with the piteous plea "Please put me out of my misery, and tell me how (or if) six spades can be made by South against any defense. A friend (?) gave me the problem, stating that the slam contract could be made, but when I finally gave up, he had to confess that he had forgotten the solution."

In problems of this nature the bidding is very wisely omitted, since it is usually impossible to show how a partnership could have reached the desired contract through any logical sequence. Thus, in these double-dummy problems, the solver is given the conditions and must accept them. In this case he is told that South's contract is six spades and that West opens the heart deuce. The disadvantage declarer suffers is not hearing any opposing bidding is offset a hundredfold by his privilege of looking at both defenders' hands.

The "theme" of this problem is by no means new—in fact, there are no new themes in double dummy problems. South must look for a way to unblock the heart suit and cash in his own fifth heart. With all the cards exposed, this should not be too difficult a feat.

Success is achieved as follows: South runs his five trump tricks, discarding one diamond and the club ace from dummy. The entire crux of the situation is to get rid of dummy's high club, while retaining the club deuce. Now dummy's remaining hearts are cashed, followed by the diamond ace, and the finale is for South to lead the club deuce toward his own queen-six. East cannot keep South from gaining entry with the club queen, and South then of course can cash his fifth heart.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"WE SHALL SEE WHAT WE SHALL SEE"

Saturday is the day reserved for discussion of one of the proverbs or phrases concerning which inquiry has been made by a reader of the How It Started column. Today the one selected is "We shall see what we shall see."

Every language has a saying to express this idea. The Germans put it "Sit back and drink tea," and in Spanish and French the metaphors for this purpose are numerous. Like "We shall see what we shall see," their equivalent is WAIT, take it easy, and wait and cross bridges when you get to them.

It may come as a surprise to our correspondent that the English saying in these words has a modern source. James Payn, an English novelist of the last century, [illegible] to be their author in his "In Market Overt," published in 1886. [illegible]

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

A letter to this department from Wilf Cain, president of the Vancouver Island Amateur Basketball Association, informs that V.I.A.B.A. does not have authority to make refereeing appointments for any Island playdowns except in the case of disagreements between council members and referees' [illegible]. Mr. Cain was undoubtedly divorcing the Island body from the responsibility of what happened at Alberni Saturday night and he does make a good point but someone is to blame for permitting the recurrence of the bitterness which has marked the Victoria-Alberni senior "A" men's final for three seasons. One wonders why something wasn't done to change the constitution so that the Island body would have the authority to name neutral referees for the series.

It has been evident for some time that use of home-town referees in such an important final will never prove satisfactory. In smaller centres the enthusiasm is considerably greater and the fans seldom see anything else except the type of officiating which consciously or unconsciously gives their team a definite edge. They holler with injured innocence when the home-town charge is levelled and point an accusing finger when they travel with their club although the officiating is fair and more often actually gives them the edge because of the tendency of some officials to avoid any chance of a charge of bias.

It is easy to alibi defeat by blaming the officiating but there seems little doubt but that the refereeing could be termed wanting Saturday night, and directly affected the final result. Two qualified Victoria reporters merely wrote what they saw when they were critical and their opinions were held by many impartial fans who saw the game, and by at least one of the Alberni players.

This is no reflection on the Athletics, a fine group of athletes, well-coached and with the ability to go all the way. But charges of biased officiating casts a reflection on their victory. That is why it is so necessary to pass some ruling which would take the naming of officials out of the hands of council members from the zones which have teams in the play-offs. The Alberni-Victoria rivalry has been a shot in the arm for the sport and everything should be done to foster that rivalry in the right manner.

Random Harvest

Jean Beliveau, pride of the Montreal Canadiens' farm system, scored 56 goals and made 61 assists in his first 42 games with the junior Quebec Citadels this season. . . . Tommy Ivan, coach of the Detroit Red Wings, claims that Gordie Howe, his great young right-winger, will be even greater if he gets the chance to play centre and hints that the move may come in a season or two. Ivan states that Howe, centring Maurice Richard and Ted Lindsay would form hockey's greatest attacking unit. . . . A rumor reaching the office states that Darby Melik, former Calgary promoter, is interested in promoting wrestling in Victoria at the Memorial Arena, using the heavyweights who have lost out in the Pacific Northwest to the speedier light-heavies. . . . Another report states that Alberni Athletics may lose coach Porky Andrews, Gordie Sykes and Harry [illegible] at the end of the current basketball season. Andrews is said to have been offered the job as physical education teacher at Victoria High School but may decide to rejoin the R.C.A.F. as instructor instead. Sykes has been transferred back to Vancouver by his firm and Kermode is reported returning to the Mainland centre by choice. . . . One of the features in every game the Cougars play is the fine work of Roger Leger when his club is forced to play short-handed. He seldom makes any mistakes, his anticipation enables him to break up many plays and his clearing passes set his playeres up for breakaways. . . . A sure sign of approaching Spring is the news that business manager Reg Patterson has mailed out contracts to his Victoria Athletics. Some of them call for cuts and the one to Aldon Wilkie was practically a major operation. Patterson, who will attend the Portland Beaver training camp at Riverside, disclosed that there is a strong possibility the A's will have one or two Negro players this season. . . . [illegible] lost out in the Northwest A.A.U. basketball eliminations for the first time in many years when they lost to Renton, 42-37, last week.

Tiremen Gain Slim Lead In Hoop Final

Dickinson & Dunn of the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League took a one-point lead in the Vancouver Island intermediate "A" men's final by edging Ladysmith High School 50-49 at Ladysmith last night. Second game of the total-point series will be played at Sooke tomorrow at 8 p.m.

Ladysmith jumped into an 8-0 lead as the Tiremen found the small floor and close checking difficult to fathom. Hockey League May Operate In California

VANCOUVER, Feb. 27 (CP) — Hockey may bloom again in California next season.

The brothers Forsythe, Jim and Bert of San Diego, Calif., are here today for the Art Schuman Memorial hockey game, and they disclosed their plans for next season.

A five-team league to include two teams operating out of the Pan Pacific Rink in Los Angeles, one in San Diego, one in San Bernardino and another in Fresno.

The brothers, wealthy restaurant operators, own 25 per cent of the San Diego hockey rink. The Forsythes owned and operated the San Diego Skyhawks in the season 1947-1948.

But the new league will not have a hookup with the present Pacific Coast Hockey League.

"Our league won't be of the calibre of the league operating in the [illegible] expressed Bert. "We'll be [illegible] players of a brand between senior and intermediate about a $75 a week class."

Hairy Texan Disqualified

Frank Murdock, a long-haired Texas wrestler, got himself bulldogged in short order in the main event of Promoter Rocky Brooks' regular Tuesday night card at the Silver [illegible] last night.

Besides the long matted hair down to his shoulders, Murdock had a small pointed beard and a frontier moustache but, alas, no [illegible] "[illegible]."

In spite of some dirty work on [illegible] eyes with a piece of paper which he kept hidden [illegible] under his arm and in his mouth, Texas Frank lost the first fall to an aroused Maurice La Chapelle of Montreal.

A few minutes later he lost the fight together when he was disqualified for repeatedly [illegible] La Chappelle when the latter was on the ropes and for offering to put the slug on the referee.

The disqualification met with the noisy approval of a near-sellout crowd.

The semi-windup matched dark-haired Lou Mescara with two-headed Dale Kiser in a fast and furious Brannagan that had both [illegible] all in to the laces of their shoes. The one-hour, best-of-three falls joust ended in a no-fall draw after both matmen displayed plenty of ring savvy and not a little rough stuff.

Folks who read Al Capp and remember his [illegible] when two wrestlers became so entwined they couldn't bear to be separated would have recognized their man[illegible] men in the opening bout.

Pierre LaBelle and Bud Rudde[illegible] got their legs jammed in a double deadlock and it took the referee and two handlers to untie them. This match ended in a draw, too, which seemed fair enough.

Cougars had the better and most scoring chances but some faulty [illegible] and defensive work set the Canucks up for all their goals and made a game that should have been an easy two points uncomfortably close.

MAZUR, LONE STAR

Finishing the season with a rush that is going to earn him a [illegible] of support in the all-star balloting, Ed Mazur sparked the Victoria attack with the two prettiest goals of the game and showed a lot of drive as he showed he can skate with the fastest when he cuts loose. Another standout for the winners was Stan Long, who played a sound game on the backline.

Don Webster suffered a bruised thigh muscle and a two-stitch cut on his chin when charged viciously into the boards in the first period by George DePelice, the Vancouver hatchetman. Webster is expected to be back in action on Friday as is Ron Fronstein, recuperating from his bad ankle sprain.

Mazur, whose goals came on three-man breaks, opened the scoring with the only goal of the first period. F[illegible] Unger tied it while Bernie Strongman, who had stopped [illegible] when he was [illegible] out the resulting penalty. The Cougars replied with three [illegible]

By SAM SNEAD

Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Offhand, the lad's doing well and as his shoulder passed through and after the ball he weight shifted to his left leg and his shoulders are pointing nicely for a shot of this type. And don't fail to notice that he is keeping his club moving on a full and complete follow-through. He didn't let the club bound up in the sand and he did not quit at impact which is the reason why most high handicap golfers are high handicap golfers. Never let the fear that a wall looms in front worry you when you're chipping from a sand trap. The shape of the club-face is designed to get the ball up and over. Swing confidently, smoothly, and finish the stroke.

Remember When . .

The rules committee of the Canadian Rugby Union adopted the forward pass at a meeting in Toronto, 70 years ago today. The move followed years of discussion on the question and led to opening up of the Canadian game and import of many United States players in following years.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Raring to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely your food may not digest. Things stagnate in the digestive tract. Then gas forms up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks gloomy.

It takes those gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel up and up. Get a package today. Insist on Carter's Little Liver Pills. 25c at any druggists.

Alderman Criticizes City Engineer For Failure to Obey Council Order

By GORDON FORBES

Alderman Waldo Skillings yesterday accused City Engineer Cyril Jones of "exceeding his authority and disregarding Council decisions."

The alderman was referring to work done on a curb at the intersection of Vining and Begbie Streets, where he said a "pimple or carbuncle" had been created last year.

Council had ordered the engineer to remove the "dangerous" new curb last year, Ald. Skillings stated, adding the engineer recently cut it back about four feet but failed to remove it completely.

"If the engineer is not prepared to accept the council's dictates, then we should ask for his resignation," declared Ald. Skillings.

TALKED TO RESIDENTS

The alderman added that Mr. Jones interviewed a delegation of residents of the district and tried to convince them removal of the "pimple" was unwise.

He referred Mayor Percy George to the section of the Municipal Act dealing with the mayor's prerogative in handling officials who do not obey Council instructions.

"The engineer has totally disregarded the wish of this Council," continued the alderman.

City Manager C. C. Wyatt also was criticized by Ald. Skillings.

"Mr. Wyatt also deserves a note of censure," he said. "It is up to him to see department heads carry out the Council's wish. He has failed dismally. We might as well start him off on the right foot."

COMPLAINTS

The alderman said several ratepayers have complained about the situation to him. He asked the mayor to exercise his prerogative.

Mayor George said he would instruct the engineer to hold up all present work on the curb, and then carry out Council's instruction. There might have been some confusion, he added.

Defending the city manager, the mayor said it was probably "an act of omission" on Mr. Wyatt's part. He said Mr. Wyatt has been extremely busy lately and it was difficult for him to watch all matters.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Wyatt made no comment.

Favors Lights Says Mulliner

Alderman Frank Mulliner yesterday clarified his stand on the question of traffic lights.

Referring to an estimate of $22,000 for more signals, the alderman said:

"We should not go over the deep-end in this matter because we already have on order from last year, and not yet received, a number of signals which would take care of our more pressing requirements. The numerous new signals suggested are not warranted at this time.

"As I had the privilege of being on committees that, during the past three years, had authorized most of our new setup, it should not be construed that I am opposed to traffic lights. However, I am against going too far in the matter . . ."

Increase Held No Cure

Independent Direction Urged for Hospital Plan

Hospital insurance should be administered by an independent commission, Arthur Ash (Cln., Saanich), declared yesterday in the Legislature.

He said he did not believe the problems of hospital insurance would be solved by raising premiums to the point where those who cannot pay will suffer and at the same time cut the service or introduce no-insurance.

"It may be that a small increase in the premium and a continuation of subsidizing may be carried out," stated Mr. Ash.

"It is significant that wherever there is a health or hospital plan run by governments in other countries, authorities are experiencing the same difficulty as we are," he said. "Last year in Great Britain there were 90,000 awaiting treatment in metropolitan hospitals alone, and some 50,000 beds were closed because they lacked nurses' auxiliary personnel."

Mr. Ash stated an investigation of the British Columbia scheme would not bring out anything new.

Facilities Planned For 400 Invalids

NEW hospitals with facilities for 400 chronic invalids and convalescent patients are planned in British Columbia by "several different organizations," Health and Welfare Minister Douglas Turnbull stated yesterday.

Increase in Power Rates Sought by B.C. Electric

Victoria householders will be paying an average of 2.7 cents per day more for electrical power if the Public Utilities Commission gives the B.C. Electric Railway Company permission to increase rates.

E. W. Arnott, B.C.E.R. vice-president, announced here yesterday the rate increase would be sought immediately and would cover all areas served by the company.

The company will ask that the rates be made effective on an interim basis March 10.

The proposed revisions in rates will raise estimated revenues from electrical services by 10.2 per cent.

Estimated increase in revenue from all services, as a result of the electricity increase, is 7.4 per cent.

EXPLAIN TO COUNCIL

Mr. Arnott and W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president and assistant to the president, explained the rate increase proposal to City Council yesterday afternoon.

Reason for the increase, officials said, is the two-year wage settlement with transit men. On the basis of past experience this settlement will form the basis of settlement with the remainder of the company's unions. On an annual basis the cost of the settlement for the company as a whole will be $2,130,000.

No changes in commercial services are being requested.

No change is asked in "large power" rates covering energy supplied to industries whose power costs are a significant part of their total cost of production.

The minimum charge of 75 cents per month for lighting service has not been changed so this class of consumer is not affected.

SEEK RAISE

Increases are sought in other than "large power" rates ranging from 5 per cent to 25 per cent depending on cost and value of service considerations. Power costs for users affected are typically under 1 per cent of their total cost of production.

Why is the company filing for increased electrical rates instead of increases in transit fares?

In part, the company gives these reasons: "Transit fares have been increased three times since the end of the war and gas rates have been increased once. Electrical rates have not only not been increased at all, but have declined 28 per cent since 1942. To our knowledge the fact that the cost of electricity has gone down steadily during the period of the greatest inflationary rise in prices in modern times is absolutely unique.

SPREAD EVENLY

"If an attempt were made to cover the present increased labor costs by a fare increase, the fare in Victoria would have to be increased to at least ten cents with proportionate increases in other zones adjacent to Victoria. Such an increase would bear especially hard upon the low income groups as compared with an electrical rate increase. The chief riders on the transit system are lower income families which do not possess cars . . . An electrical increase spreads the increase over all families, including those with private cars."

The company estimates that, aside from labor costs, 1951 as compared with 1950 will have to carry increased basis would be about $2,130,000. The increased labor cost on a 12-month basis would be about $2,130,000. The increased revenues which the proposed electrical rate increases will achieve are estimated at $2,159,524 per year.

The company's forecast electrical expenditures for the next five years are about $111,000,000. To continue to finance this huge program, officials feel it is essential that the net revenues of the company be unimpaired.

Whatshan Power Ready Soon

The British Columbia Power Commission's new hydro-electric project at Whatshan, on Lower Arrow Lake, is expected to go into operation April 30, according to Commission officials.

With an initial capacity of 33,000 horsepower, the plant is built for ultimate expansion to 66,000 horsepower.

Some 140 miles of transmission line will carry [illegible] 138,000 volts, across the Monashee Mountains to Vernon, and at 60,000 volts from Vernon to Kamloops. Power from the new development will tie in with the existing distribution system in the North Okanagan and Kamloops districts and serve more than 20 communities.

The project was started in September, 1948.

COST: $5,000,000

Cost of the plant, exclusive of the transmission system, will be $5,000,000. Cost of transmission lines adds another $1,700,000 to the total cost.

The commission announced also that the contract for clearing the first nine miles of transmission right-of-way from the site of its Clowhom Falls powerhouse to Sechelt had been awarded to Lamb Lumber Company, Vancouver, at $395 per acre, lowest of seven tenders.

Faculty Pay Discussed With Cabinet

Salary boosts for University of British Columbia professors were discussed yesterday when a delegation from the U.B.C. Board of Governors met the Provincial Cabinet.

A brief presented the Cabinet showed that an extra grant of $300,000 a year would be necessary to raise U.B.C. salaries to reduce the gap between the cost of living and faculty salaries.

The brief said university men had paid little attention to salaries in recent years, as long as they could maintain a modest standard of living, while wages of other groups and professions had risen.

SEEK ASSURANCE

A delegation from the B.C. Research Council asked the Cabinet to ensure that its grant from the Government would not be further cut this year.

The council received $150,000 from the Government last year, $10,000 less than the grant it received in the previous three years.

"We strongly deprecate a continuance of the policy adopted last year of reducing the vote for the Research Council, our understanding being that it has been suggested that a still further reduction be made in this year's vote," it was stated in a brief presented by the council. "We desire to express the opinion that such action is directly contrary to the best practice in the interest of development of secondary industry in this Province."

C.C.F. Member Rises to Defence Of Hospital Insurance Service

IN THE LEGISLATURE

The following speakers will continue the Throne Speech debate in the Legislature today: Walter Hendricks (Cln., Nelson-Creston), Randolph Harding (C.C.F., Kaslo-Slocan), Andrew Whisker (Cln., Cowichan-Newcastle), Charles Morrow (Cln., North Okanagan).

By LAWRIE JOSLIN

[illegible] around yesterday for the Government to get into as the debate on the Throne Speech continued in the Legislature.

Leo Nimsick (C.C.F., Cranbrook), even defended the Government's hospital insurance scheme in the face of previous criticism from the Government side.

"I don't think anyone would want hospital insurance to be a paying proposition," he said. "I don't remember anyone saying a fire department or a police department should be a paying proposition."

He thought criticism of the public for the shortcomings of the scheme was an example of Government "buck-passing."

MATTER OF SECURITY

Mr. Nimsick observed that Provincial welfare allowances were not sufficient for a decent standard of living, let alone security.

"You know the only secure man is a dead man," pointed out Mrs. Tilly Rolston (Cln., Vancouver-Point Grey).

"That depends where he's gone."

[illegible] suggested E. E. Winch (C.C.F., Burnaby).

Mr. Nimsick insisted that Government spending should not be at the expense of recipients of social assistance.

"We might start right here in Victoria and cut out Government House, which would be cutting out one of the frills," he suggested.

A member of the Legislature for about 20 years, Thomas King (Cln., Columbia) was greeted by prolonged desk-thumping. He talked to the members like a father and had them reminiscences.

DON'T LIKE PAYING

He reminded Mr. Nimsick that the 2 per cent sales tax had been imposed for social assistance and if the tax was unpopular it was because people didn't like paying somebody else's bills.

People have been misled about hospital insurance, said Mr. King.

"It's only a baby yet," he explained. "They haven't got it fully going. You have to work up to these things."

"It's easier to complain than it is to praise or figure out new or better ways of doing things," he added.

Then, with obvious pleasure, Mr. King turned to his "pet subject."

For years he has advocated that the Government sponsor car insurance with premiums paid through a four or five-cent tax on a gallon of gas.

"I can't find a catch in it," he confessed. "It is so simple. For four years I was afraid to mention it for fear there was a catch."

Arthur Ash (Cln., Saanich) ruffled C.C.F. feathers a bit with his statement that the party had been kicking labor around for years as a political football.

"We've been doing everything we can to protect it," objected E. E. Winch.

The Saanich member asked the Government to repeal the Saanich Relief Act, which gives sections of the municipality the right to secede. He said the act had served its purpose and added that the Government should not encourage the break-up of municipalities.

Province Gains 100 Families

British Columbia gained more than 100 families in inter-provincial movement during February.

Figures released yesterday by W. R. Bone, regional director of Family Allowances, showed 363 families came to B.C. and 260 left for other provinces.

Totals showed 132 families came here from Alberta while 99 left British Columbia for Alberta. Saskatchewan lost 87 to 36 to B.C. in the February trek and Ontario 66 to 61.

Allowances paid in this province during the month reached another record of $1,863,757. The sum was paid on behalf of 312,497 children in 160,569 families.

HAVE WE GOT BLUEBELLS???

She came out in the yard in a sweater & a skirt, for a wife & a mother, I thot she looked pert. The skirt was grey, the "Braemar" blue, "just WHAT," she inquired, "are U planning to do??" "You know," I appraised, "you're not a bad shape, a'matter of fact, you're rather ship-shape." She hooted out loud, threw back her head, "Oh . . . thank you, Sir," is what she sed. She smoothed the sweater with the downy fuzz, then she walked about like a model does. With languid paces, her eyes on me, arms out-limped . . . sort of casual-ee. She came to a stop there on the ground, & with shoulders back, slowly pivoted around. Then she paused, her expression froze, snooty like an onion . . . under her nose. That haughty look, a model's style, which she gradually condescended . . . into a smile; as retracing her steps, like a gal from New York, to where I was leaning, on the pitch-fork. "Hmmmmmm," I sed, as I tried to squeeze, "have one of the clerks wrap them, please." Then I turned, & dug in the dirt, "yes, of course, both the sweater & skirt." Now beat it lady, & wipe off that smirk, I got to start, & get to work. I haven't much time, you silly goon, just these few hours on Wednesday afternoon. Remember in View Royal, we had so many clam shells, but we're smothered here, in all these bluebells. I've been standing here, & gazing about, should I leave 'em lay, or yank some out??" "Are you SURE," she sed, "I thot it was grass, they're clumped together in such a 'mass.'" "They're BLUEBELLS, you dope, & a regular sheet, coz I asked a lady, passing by on the street. They are very pretty, the lady sed, & she admired the rockery, & that other bed." "Well then . . . why pull them out, to leave may be better," she straightened her skirt & yanked at her sweater. "Now lookit," I warned, "don't go into that act, do U think these 'bells' I oughta subtract??" You should subtract what you think U would pay, if you should visit down our way. Of these chesterfield suites we'd like to shout, beautiful, enuff to knock your eye out. Every color & style, pieces 2 or 3, & stretching as far, as the eye can see. "She" came up closer & patted my cheek, still a playful mood, sorta hide-'n'-seek. "Is Daddy worried to say his farewells, a-scared to hurt his little blue-bells?" THAT DID IT . . . I'd had enuff, I missed her waist, but grabbed her cuff. She pulled away, & started to yell, "Daddy's afraid of a little blue-bell." "I AM . . . am I, well you'll see," I tried to put her . . . over my knee. She twisted about, I lost my grip, she fell over backwards & showed her slip. I grabbed her again, made her say "Uncle," she tried to bite me on the knuckle. But I MADE her say it, then loudly yell, "I just L-O-V-E . . . each pretty blue-bell." She ran in the house, her nose in that sneot, and slammed the door . . . and called me . . . A BRUTE.

So Quick and Easy to Fix

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup Carnation Evaporated Milk diluted with ½ cup water
1 flat can (half-pound size) canned salmon

Melt butter in saucepan over medium heat. Stir in flour and salt; cook 1 minute; remove from heat and add ½ cup milk; blend carefully until all lumps are gone. Carnation EVAPORATED MILK

For Plain or "Fancy" Cooking—Use the Milk that Whips!

CARNATION MILK is double-rich milk—concentrated to the consistency of cream. So it's perfect for your fanciest "company" desserts, as well as all regular milk purposes!

IF YOUR RECIPE SAYS "MILK" use Carnation diluted with an equal amount of water. This way you have homogenized, heat-refined milk with all of good milk's food values, and extra creamy-smoothness.

USE IT LIKE CREAM . . . for whipped toppings, on fruits, cereals, puddings . . . in most recipes calling for costly cream. Millions prefer undiluted Carnation to cream for their coffee, too.

Violet P. Returns to Victoria After Record-Making Fishing Trip

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS

By RAY WORMALD

There were no flags waving and there was no crowd to meet her, but when the 62-foot Violet P. nosed her way into Victoria's Inner Harbor yesterday morning she completed a three-week fishing trip that made history in British Columbia's fishing industry.

During that time the Violet P. reaped a harvest of 214,000 pounds of flatfish—all caught by means of a beam trawl in waters adjacent to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Proud of their vessel and the record they set are brothers Ray and Roland Prince, both of Victoria, and their two cousins, Bert and Jack Prince. Ray is the skipper of the Violet P., and his brother serves as the engineer.

FOOR START

The trip did not start as well as it ended. While the vessel was on the way from Victoria to the northern fishing grounds she grounded on a small island just off Sidney. She returned to Victoria for repairs which required a week.

Once on the fishing grounds, however, the lost time was more than accounted for. Two loads of flatfish were taken to Prince Rupert, and the last one to Vancouver. From there the vessel came to Victoria.

CADET INSPECTION

Capt. Ronald Jackson, officer commanding H.M.C.S. Malahat, Victoria's naval reserve division, will inspect the city's Junior Sea Cadet Corps at 7:30 tonight at the Sea Cadets' Barracks, foot of Robert Street.

After inspecting the cadets, Capt. Jackson will tour the classrooms in which members of the group will be carrying on with their various studies and practical training.

Lieut. Gerald Bishop, officer commanding the junior cadet group, reports plans are now being made for the cadets' Summer program.

NEW ENGINE

A revolutionary development in marine propulsion was in the news in Britain recently with the first public showing of the Auris gas turbine.

Outcome of four years of design and construction work by British experts, it will be the first full-scale gas turbine in the world to be applied to ocean-going shipping when, in about two months, it will be installed in the Auris—an 8,221-ton tanker owned by the Anglo-Saxon Petroleum firm.

The turbine is still on its test bed, where it has already run for 652 hours without modification.

The idea of the marine gas turbine originated during the last war and the Auris, with its four Diesel engine-driven alternators, was selected for this first experiment. No difficulties with fuel consumption are anticipated, for the turbine has already been shown also to run [illegible]

No overhauls will be carried out on the first voyage, a ten to 12-day, non-stop trip to Curacao. Should the turbine develop any faults, the Auris will use her three remaining Diesels.

QUARTERMASTERS

Seven men of the Royal Canadian Navy emerged from H.M.C. Navigation Direction School in Halifax Friday to become a new branch of the service. They are called quartermasters and are the navy's first "seaman specialists."

Their duties include guarding the ship's gangway and coxswaining ship's boats in harbor. At sea they will steer the ship and act as seamanship experts in any difficult evolution involving that type of work. In smaller ships, the senior quartermasters will be called upon to carry out administration and disciplinary duties. At all times they will be available to instruct young ordinary seamen.

The men are scheduled to join the carrier H.M.C.S. Magnificent in the third week of March.

CANADIANS HELD

Three Canadians with an unnamed and undocumented $10,000 cabin cruiser are in custody of the U.S. customs charged with entering the Port of Bellingham, Wash., buying and loading merchandise and attempting to leave without declaration to the customs office.

A fourth man with an automobile Also is in custody, and boat and car are under seizure.

The Canadians are Robert A. Brooks, 30, New Westminster, owner of the boat; Roy A. Bertram, 41, Gibsons, B.C., and Kenneth Estensen, 20, South Westminster, B.C. The fourth man under arrest, owner of the car, is Christopher C. Orcharde of Vancouver, B.C.

The men were taken into custody late Saturday at the Bellingham Engine & Equipment Company's dock. They were placed under $250 bond each on criminal customs charges. Several civil customs charges also were preferred, and immigration charges will be brought against them.

Mystery of the Sea

Weak Radio Signals Fail To Locate Missing Yacht

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Feb. 27 (CP).—The fate of the small New Zealand yacht Argo, missing since January, seems destined to become one of the mysteries of the sea.

Radio enthusiasts have been glued to their sets night after night as weak signals, apparently from a vessel in distress, have been picked up. [illegible] no clues.

The Argo was one of 30 yachts which left Wellington, January 23, on an ocean race of less than 200 miles to Lyttleton on the South Island. They ran into a big storm which scattered the fleet.

Competitors limped into port over a period of several days. One vessel was dismasted at sea. Another was wrecked and the crew believed drowned. A week later one yacht was found miles out in the Pacific.

This left only the Argo not accounted for. She was a well-found vessel with a crew of six.

SEARCH CALLED OFF

An extensive three-day air-sea search had been discontinued when on February 2 it was learned the vessel carried a radio set and a technician who could convert it into a transmitter.

Ship and aircraft radio control stations and amateur broadcasters called the yacht on different wavelengths asking for replies at stated times. Several amateur stations reported hearing a faint pattern of signals from a wide area off East Cape of New Zealand's North Island.

Air force planes, a naval frigate and commercial vessels combed the area without result as the mysterious signals continued.

DEAD FLARES

A plane dropped flares and a signal purporting to come from the yacht was heard, advising that the flares could be seen. But searchers could not confirm the source.

A curious point was that searching ships and aircraft did not hear the signals reported by land stations. A Catalina aircraft covered large areas with radar, again without success.

After examining all the evidence, experts announced that none of the messages could be positively identified as from the Argo.

TIMING

PURLEY, Surrey, England (CP).—Five hundred girls were sent home from school with a note saying "pupils will report at the normal time on Tuesday but will be sent home if fuel has not arrived." Half an hour later four tons of coke were delivered to the school.

Contrived Ending Mars Adult British Film

REVIEWS OF CITY MOVIES

By RON BAIRD

The Cage of Gold (Eagle-Lion) is another example of Britain's adult approach to film-making although, in this case, the ending seems a little too well-contrived to justify the story.

David Farrar, wartime R.A.F. wing commander and peacetime cad, rekindles an old love affair with Jean Simmons, and marries her when he finds out that she is about to have a child. But he leaves her the next day to resume his post-war gold smuggling job in Paris when it turns out that she hadn't the money he thought she had.

His Parisian girl-friend, singer Madeleine Lebeau, persuades him to sell his British passport to a fellow smuggler, Herbert Lom, and stay in Paris with her. The plane carrying the passenger who holds Farrar's passport is lost in mid-Atlantic with all lives and Farrar is presumed dead by Miss Simmons.

SETTLES DOWN

In the meantime, she has the child and marries the doctor, James Donald, with whom she was once in love. Things settle down to normal with Miss Simmons—but not for long.

After working a number of underhand swindles in Paris, Farrar returns to England and attempts to blackmail Miss Simmons and her husband with the knowledge that he is still alive and she has married bigamously.

As a logical consequence to these activities, Farrar winds up shot to death. We won't say who pulled the trigger but certainly everyone with whom he came in contact had a pretty good motive.

Miss Simmons, as usual, does a thoroughly competent job of acting, as does the rest of this all-British cast in a story of a heel without a soul.

FIRST FLING

The night club team of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis have taken their first fling at the movies in At War With the Army (Paramount) and emerged as very entertaining screen material.

It's the usual routine of a befuddled private caught up in the machinery of army life but Lewis' special brand of humor and Martin's better-than-average singing make At War With the Army good comic fare.

For sheer, studied stupidity, Jerry Lewis is just about tops.

The pair do a Bing Crosby-Barry Fitzgerald routine from Going My Way that's almost more like the original than the original.

Lewis' pop-eyed expression, gravel voice and zany antics, coupled with the sane routine of Dean Martin, turn this pair into one of the funniest that has come along in a long time.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY
in the RELIEF OF PAIN

Science never accepts without question.

To science, even what is good exists only to be improved. Now—after many years' careful research—science presents an important step forward in the relief of common pain. It is called DISPRIN.

DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Science Progresses.
For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called DISPRIN, and is sold at druggists everywhere.

DISPRIN is now available at your Druggist. Bottles of 26 tablets or Handy Pocket Folders of 8.

Science steps forward with
